Mystery £1m bid to kill sicko

Dambusters hero Les dead at 96

THE last British survivor of the famous Dambusters bombing raid has paid tribute to Les Munro following his death.

Squadron Leader Munro, from New Zealand, had been the last surviving pilot of the RAF's famous 617 Squadron which carried out the "bouncing bomb" raid to destroy dams in Nazi Germany during the Second World War.

The 96-year-old died from heart problems in a New Zealand hospital, leaving two surviving crew members of the famous raids – British bomb aimer George "Johnny" Johnson, and Canadian front gunner Fred Sutherland, who served in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Speaking from his home in Bristol, Mr Johnson, 93, who transferred to 617 Squadron in March 1943 along with Mr Munro especially for the Dambusters mission, told of his sorrow at his old colleague's death.

He said: "I would like to pass on my complete sympathy to Les's partner and his two sons, who I met at the 70th anniversary.

"I am very sorry to hear that he has gone. I shan't see him any more at reunions and I feel very sorry about that."

Some 19 Lancaster bombers flew from RAF Scampton for the daring mission on May 16, 1943, carrying Barnes Wallis's specially-adapted bouncing bombs.

A total of 133 Allied aircrew left for the raid, but 77 were killed and three captured.

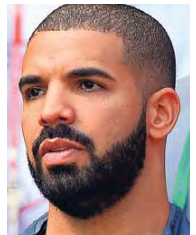

A GIANT inflatable MINION caused chaos after it escaped from a fairground and blocked a busy road.

Cars were held up for nearly an hour as rescue services struggled to get the 40ft-high rubber character under control.

Police were called and managed to let the air out of the yellow inflatable character from the hit animation film

Despicable Me. Dublin city councillor Paul McAuliffe tweeted: "Escaped Minion may seem hilarious but it's a dispicable breach of health & safety."

Two shot dead at rapper Drake nightclub event

A SHOOTING that started at a Toronto nightclub event hosted by rapper Drake and then spilled onto the streets has left at least two people dead and three others wounded.

It was not clear if Drake was present during the shooting.

Despite a large police presence outside the venue, shots were fired inside the Muzik nightclub at 3.30am.

"This was a brazen, large-scale, ongoing firearm incident where our officers and members of the public were directly in the line of fire," said Toronto deputy police chief Peter Soly.

"We are very lucky that this is not a larger body count."

The victims were a man and woman in their 20s and 30s.

Three people were taken to hospital with various injuries which were not believed to be life-threatening.

No arrests have been made and it was not clear what led to the shooting.

Police believe there could be more victims at other locations in the Canadian city.

Live longer with tongue-tingler

EATING spicy food is the key to a longer life.

A study which analysed the food habits and health details of nearly half-a-million Chinese people found that those who ate spicy food six or seven days a week had a 14% reduced risk of dying compared with those who ate it less than once a week.

Spicy food was also associated with a lower risk of death due to cancer, ischemic heart diseases and respiratory diseases in both sexes, while in women, it reduced risk of death from infections.

Researchers stressed that the findings were purely observational, and eating lots of spicy food could also be linked to other dietary habits and lifestyle choices.

NOW BERGERAC PROBES TED HEATH PAEDO CLAIMS

CHILD SEX ALLEGATIONS: Former PM Sir Edward Heath

THE police force on the island of Jersey – made famous by TV detective Bergerac – is the latest force to probe child sex claims against Sir Edward Heath.

The former Prime Minister features in Operation Whistle, an inquiry into alleged historic abuse on Jersey.

Earlier, reports emerged that Sir Edward is being looked at as part of Operation Midland, a Scotland Yard inquiry into claims a VIP paedophile ring operated in the 1970s and 1980s.

Wiltshire Police has also appealed for potential victims or witnesses to come forward after the late politician became the most high-profile figure embroiled in historical abuse claims.

A spokeswoman for the States of Jersey Police (SoJP) said the force is aware of an Independent Police Complaints Commission corruption probe linked to allegations against Sir Edward.

Operation Whistle was launched by police in Jersey in June as part of Operation Hydrant, a UK-wide co-ordination of sex abuse probes. It was convened against a backdrop of increased reports of historic abuse since Jimmy Savile's death in 2011 and the launch in 2014 of the independent Jersey Care Inquiry, which is looking into allegations of widespread abuse in the island's care homes – including the Haut de la Garenne Children's Home.

Threat

Police said in June that the Jersey operation had six investigators looking at 45 suspects, some of them dead or as yet unidentified, with 13 "people of public prominence".

Sir Edward's name was dramatically linked to historic paedophile claims on Monday when the police watchdog announced an inquiry into allegations that a prosecution against an individual was shelved after a threat was made to "expose" Sir Edward.

A woman who was in charge of a brothel had been due to stand trial, but said she would expose him.

A man has claimed he was raped at the age of 12 by Sir Edward in 1961.

The former PM, who led a Conservative government between 1970 and 1974, never married.

He died at his home in Salisbury aged 89 in July 2005.

£73M ASYLUM LOOPHOLE

BRITAIN is spending £73million a year to support failed asylum seekers.

The figure was disclosed by the Home Office as it set out details of proposals to slash benefits for those who remain in the country illegally.

Taxpayer-funded help – normally for accommodation and a weekly cash allowance to cover living costs – was being provided to an estimated 15,000 failed asylum seekers and their dependants in March. Planned changes to the current rules were trailed at the weekend as the Government struggled to get a grip on the Calais migrant crisis.

At present, migrants can get accommodation and a £36-a-week allowance from the moment they claim asylum in the UK.

But support continues to be given to thousands after their claim has failed.

Setting out its new proposals yesterday, the Home Office said the system established 16 years ago is now being used "in large measure" to support failed bids for asylum.

It said: "This is wrong in principle and sends entirely the wrong message to those migrants who want to come to or remain in the UK in an attempt to benefit from the support arrangements we have put in place for those who do need our protection."

Under the new plans, support for failed asylum seekers who make no effort to leave the UK after their claim is rejected will be closed off.

Rat's not gonna go down well!

BOOB-BARING Emily Ratajkowski has horrified fans by saying she wants to keep her massive knockers under wraps from now on.

The 24-year-old found worldwide fame when she whipped her enormous pair out in the pop video for Robin Thicke's Blurred Lines.

She then unelashed them on her acting debut in the hit flick Gone Girl.

But now the London-born babe has decided to stay covered up.

She said: "I think I've done enough nudity now. Like, if someone asked me to do it now, I'd probably say no."

The actress – who appears next alongside Zac Efron in new film We Are Your Friends – explains that she has felt a little typecast – and longs to play a more fulfilling role.

"I have some serious criteria for what I'm looking for in a role.

"It has to be a really interesting script and story. And usually the girl is ugly!"

Brave Gwen in painful Bush split

SINGER Gwen Stefani has filed for divorce from hubby Gavin Rossdale.

The No Doubt singer has been married to Bush frontman Rossdale for almost 13 years and they have three sons together, including a one-year-old.

Stefani, 45 – who is also a successful fashion designer as well as a coach on The Voice USA – filed her petition for divorce on Monday, Los Angeles Superior Court, spokesman Mary Hearn said, citing irreconcilable differences.

The celebrity couple, who tied the knot in 2002, are seeking joint custody of their children Zuma, Kingston and Apollo.

In a statement the pair said: "While the two of us have come to the mutual decision that we will no longer be partners in marriage, we remain partners in parenthood and are committed to jointly raising our three sons in a happy and healthy environment."

Cilla died from stroke after fall

CILLA BLACK died of a stroke after falling and hitting her head at her Spanish villa.

The singing and TV star was sunbathing at her home on the Costa del Sol when she lost her balance, fell and hit her head, knocking her unconscious.

A post-mortem revealed that she died of a stroke, a statement from her publicist said.

In a joint statement, her three sons, Robert, Ben and Jack, said: "We are devastated by the sad loss of our mother, but have been deeply touched by all the kind messages of support from her friends, fans, the public and media."

"We want to thank everyone, especially the people of Liverpool."

The tributes and condolences have really helped us through these difficult times.

"Spanish authorities have told us we are able to bring mum home, which we hope to do as quickly as possible."

"We would also like to thank all those involved for their help with this matter."

No funeral details have yet been released.

Robo-bonk will be 'normal in 50 years'

SHAGGING robots could become the norm in just 50 years, according to a top academic.

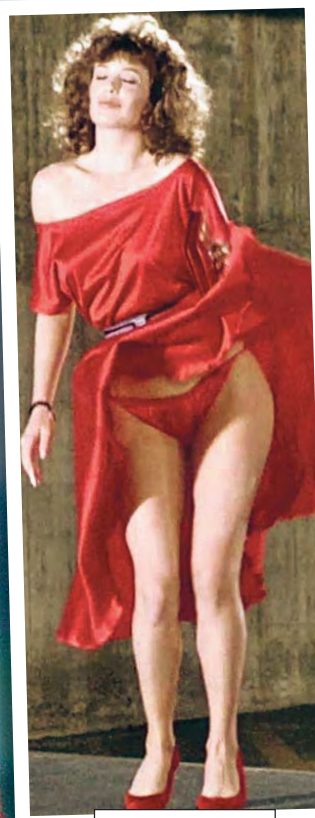

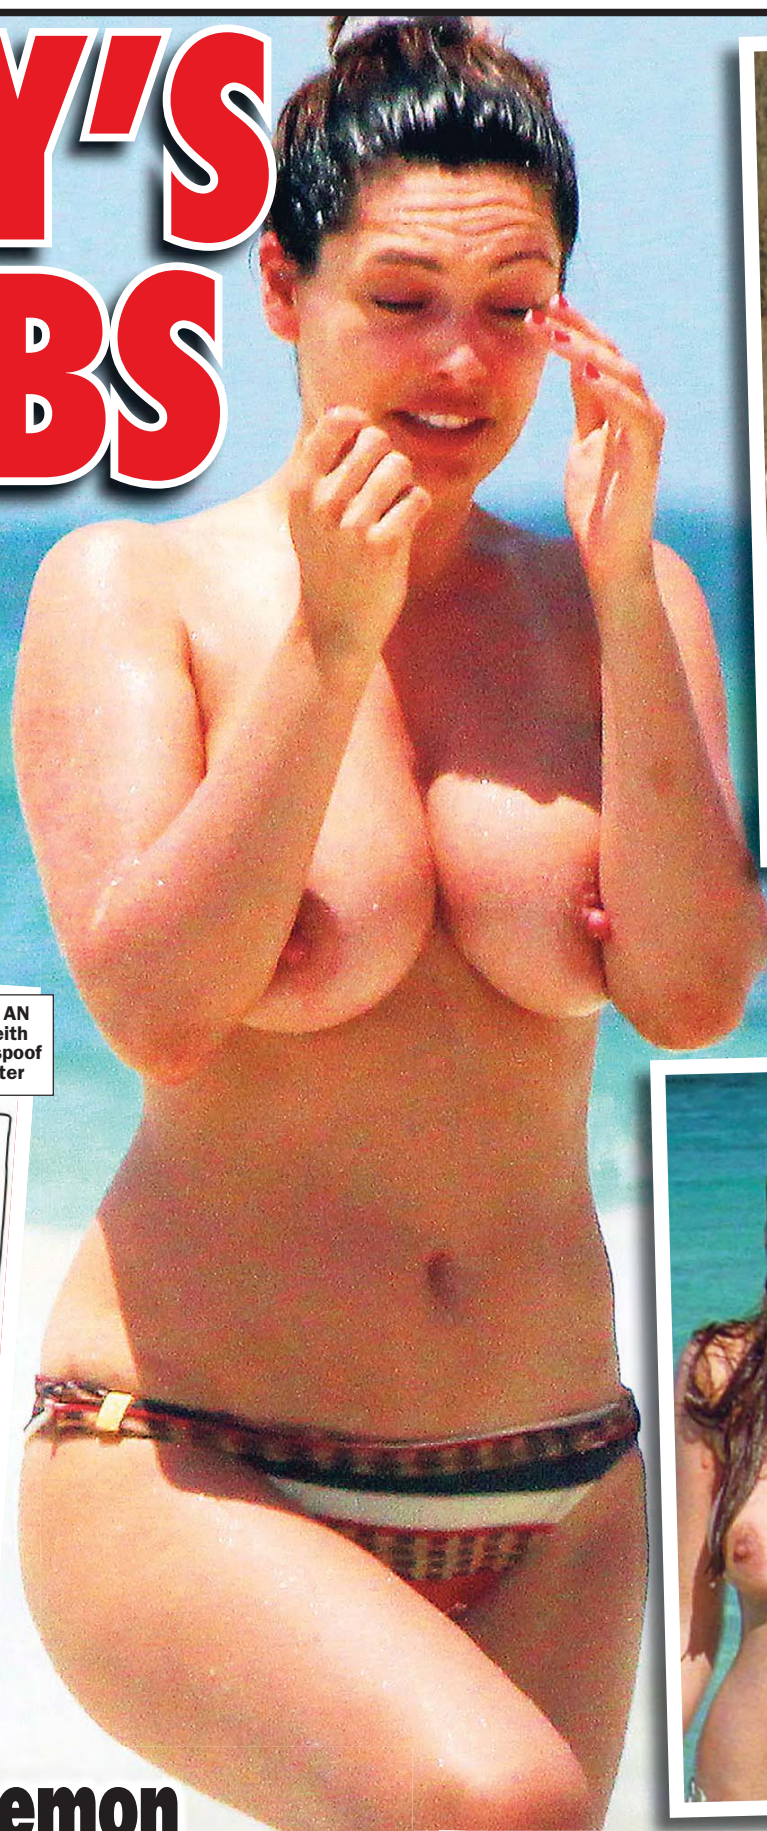

The issue was highlighted in hit Channel 4 drama Humans, starring Gemma Chan as "synth" Anita, as well as Oscar-winning 2014 movie Her, in which Joaquin Phoenix falls in love with an operating system played by Scarlett Johansson.

Dr Helen Driscoll, from the University of Sunderland, says "sex tech" is advancing at a pace and in 50 years' time, physical relationships will seem primitive in comparison.

You can already order a mannequin partner online. And robotic, interactive, motion-sensing technology is likely to become more and more central to the sex industry in the next few years.

Dr Driscoll said: "It could really start to enable mannequin partners to 'come to life'."

She and Keith Lemon plan classic comedy remake

IDEA: Keith Lemon

BUSTY Kelly Brook wants to remake the 80s classic comedy Woman In Red with Keith Lemon.

The 35-year-old beauty says she's up for the Kelly LeBrock role as long as comic character Lemon takes the Gene Wilder part. He tweeted her to ask if she would be interested in the remake, to which she replied: "Let's do it!"

And he wrote back: "Get your people to talk to my people and I'll start writing words for us to say."

Kelly starred as herself in the 2012 film The Keith Lemon Movie and has been a stand-in captain on his ITV2 panel show Celebrity Juice.

Her last acting job was on the American comedy show One Big Happy, which was sadly a huge flop.

But she's determined to keep on acting, and the opportunity to do a remake of the hit 1984 comedy is perfect.

A pal told Midweek Sport: "This idea started off as kind of a joke, but the more they've discussed it, the more they're getting serious about really doing it."

"They both think it would work."

"It's a classic film, they both love it to bits and think it deserves a new audience. And Kelly is as fit as Kelly LeBrock was in her prime.

"If Keith is writing it, it will be a classic, properly hilarious."

"There's been a few studios getting in touch to start the ball rolling."

Divorce talk is just silly, blasts Willy

HOLLYWOOD star Will Smith has denied reports he is set to divorce his wife Jada Pinkett-Smith.

There has been years of speculation that the couple's relationship is on the verge of ending.

But the two-time Oscar nominee posted a message on his Facebook page in a bid to end the rumours.

Smith wrote: "Under normal circumstances, I don't usually respond to foolishness (because it's contagious). But so many people have extended me their 'deepest condolences' that I figured, 'What the hell... I can be foolish, too!'"

"So, in the interest of redundant, repetitious, over & over-again-ness... Jada and I are... NOT GETTING A DIVORCE!!!!!!!!!!!!!! : -)

"I promise you al, if I ever decide to divorce my Queen - I SWEAR I'll tell you myself!"

The 46-year-old actor and director added: "Dumb People Should Have to Wear Scarlet D's."

He married Pinkett-Smith in 1997 and the pair have a son, Jaden, and daughter, Willow.

Child-killer is finally executed

PAKISTAN has executed a man convicted of killing a seven-year-old boy in 2004 when he himself was just 14 years old, despite international outcry over his sentence.

Authorities hanged Shafqat Hussain shortly before dawn at a Karachi prison, said Iqbal Hassan, an official of the prison judicial branch.

Hussain's brother, Gul Hassan, will take the body to his native village somewhere in Kashmir.

Relatives visited Hussain for the last time on Monday night.

His execution had been delayed four times amid controversy over killing someone who committed a crime as a minor.

After his last appeal failed, Hussain remained on death row for another month as Ramadan had begun.

Pakistan halts execution during the fasting month.

EASTENDERS star Jake Wood wants to be in the next series of I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here!

"I'm not squeamish - so eating strange stuff wouldn't bother me," he told the Radio Times.

Jake is set to take a break from playing Max Branning in EastEnders this year.

Viewers have seen him arrested on suspicion of murdering Lucy Beale.

Jake revealed he is looking forward to spending more time at home.

He added: "I'll have done 987 episodes by the time I go."

"Max has had a very hectic nine years - I think we both need this break!"

He first revealed he would be taking a break in May.

In an official statement he said: "I have been with EastEnders for nine years and I feel the time is right to give Max a break.

"But it won't be for too long - I'll be back next year to see Max face another chapter of drama."

The show's executive producer, Dominic Treadwell-Collins, said: "Max has been through so much over the past nine years."

POLICE WARN 'TOXIC' VODKA COULD GET YOU BLIND DRUNK

COPS are warning the public of the dangers of cheap and potentially "toxic" vodka in circulation following a raid on an illegal alcohol factory.

Trading Standards North West has also warned the vodka being sold can cause blindness.

On Friday, HM Revenue and Customs, Cheshire Police and Trading Standards seized 130,000 litres of the suspected illegal booze from an industrial unit in Widnes, Cheshire.

HMRC said it was worth £1.7 million in unpaid duty.

During the raid the teams found suspected counterfeit vodka labels and bottle tops.

It is not clear how many bottles have already been sold.

A spokesman said: "Fake vodka can contain high levels of methanol - which can cause blindness."

"If you are offered extremely cheap vodka it will probably be illegal."

"Other signs to look out for include spelling mistakes on labels, a strange smell of varnish and bottles not filled to the same levels."

World Cup door still open for car crash Danny

ENGLAND rugby union star Danny Cipriani, who was arrested on suspicion of drink driving following an early morning car crash, may still play in the World Cup.

The Sale Sharks player, 27, was unhurt in a collision between his black Mercedes C63 and a silver Toyota Prius in the Chelsea area of west London shortly after 5am on June 1.

He was given a breath test and taken to a west London police station before being released on bail.

A police spokesman confirmed that Cipriani had been re-bailed to a date in mid-November pending further inquiries.

The timing means Cipriani will be available for host nation England's squad for the Rugby World Cup, which ends on October 31.

The fly-half is in head coach Stuart Lancaster's initial squad, which will be cut to 31 ahead of the opening match with Fiji at Twickenham on September 18.

She flaunted her well-toned body in a sizzling black and white two-piece which barely contained her ample 34B charms.

The Kosovo-born star also offered paparazzi a cheeky glimpse of her perfectly-formed BUM, before showing off her dance moves.

Good Morning Britain stars in live fire drama!

PRESENTERS of Good Morning Britain were yesterday morning caught up in a fire drama on live TV.

Viewers at home were left watching a pre-recorded interview when the fire alarm went off mid-show and stars had to flee.

Presenters Ben Shephard and Susanna Reid (above) were in the middle of a chat with Emmerdale actors Charley Webb and Anthony Quinlan via a live link when the alarm at the London Television Centre went off.

Susanna told viewers: "Terribly sorry."

And Shephard added: "We have a little bit of drama in the studio. I don't know whether the Emmerdale scriptwriters have done something, but the fire alarm appears to be going off in the studio – which has never, ever happened before."

As the presenters evacuated the studio the show switched to a pre-recorded 30-year-special with Lorraine Kelly.

ITV bosses said: "It was an isolated incident and was quickly resolved."

Sheep secrets of Mafia boss on run

A MAFIA boss on the run since 1993 communicated with fellow criminals using a code based around sheep, say police.

Officers arrested 11 men they say are linked to the fugitive head of the Sicilian Mafia, Matteo Messina Denaro.

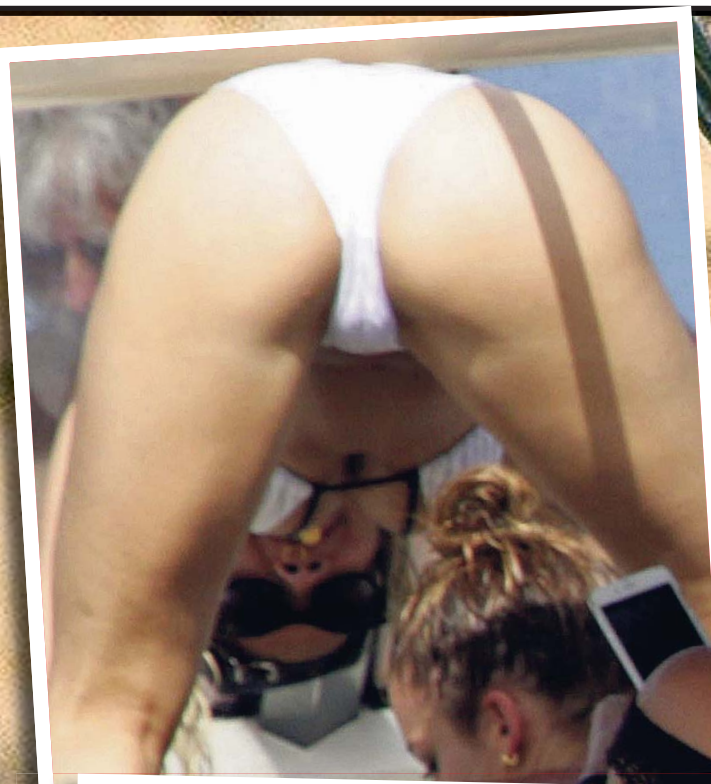

They said Denaro kept in touch with his henchmen using scraps of paper left at a farm in western Sicily.

He then phoned his cronies to alert them to the messages by using phrases like: "The sheep need shearing," "The shears need sharpening" and "The hay is ready".

Another said: "I've put the ricotta cheese aside for you, will you come by later?"

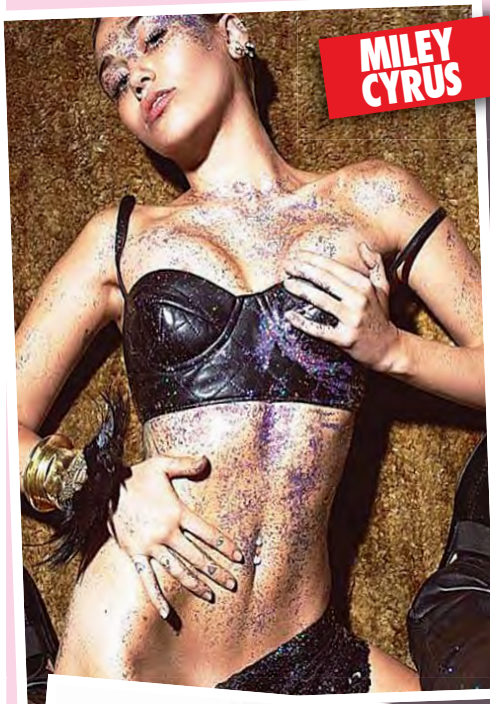

Denaro is seen as the successor to two jailed Mafia godfathers.

He once boasted he could "fill a cemetery" with his victims.

STRAIGHT TALKING FROM UKIP'S DEPUTY LEADER

Beeb refusing to tell an inconvenient truth

● IT'S silly season again and the latest media witch-hunt is the House of Lords. One moron peer in a hooker's bra and it all goes mad. Yes, I know in some ways it is deserved – especially those Lords who do bugger all – but some of the suggestions to restructure the House are just plain nuts.

The latest idea is to retire peers when they reach 80 years of age. Frankly, I've never heard anything so stupid. The whole reason for a second chamber is to act as a check on the House of Commons.

For this to be effective it should have people who are experts in their field with bags of experience.

Spite

If this silly idea were to come to pass then the Lords would lose people like former chancellors Nigel Lawson and Dennis Healey, former Tory chairman Norman Tebbit, the SDP's former president Shirley Williams and Labour's former deputy leader Roy Hattersley.

It doesn't matter what side of the political fence you're on, it's obvious that to lose these people would be cutting off your nose to spite your face. The House of Lords isn't perfect and it does need reform – but retiring people with experience is NOT the answer.

THE BBC was at it again last week and boy, did it show its prejudice in all its glory.

It was during a broadcast reporting there has been more than a 50% rise in attacks on Jews in this country in the last year.

Such is the growth in anti-Semitism that some Jewish communities in north London are employing a private security company to ensure they are safe from attacks.

We can all agree it is galling that a particular minority in 21st century Britain feels the need to take on its own private security firm to protect its community.

To give the BBC its due, it ran the news of the huge increase in anti-Semitic attacks because it is a national outrage.

Skinhead

During the report, an Orthodox Jew was shown walking down a street. Fair enough, the story was about attacks on Jews, after all.

But what happened next tells you all you need to know about the Beeb and its refusal to tell a truth that doesn't fit with its right-on, "progressive" narrative.

The news piece cut to a white, working class bloke walking with his family wearing a cap with a St George's cross on it, wearing an England football shirt.

BLAME GAME: The BBC are wrong to point the finger at the Far Right

It's not hard to deduce what the BBC was trying to say: "This is kind of person who attacks Jews."

You know, a nasty skinhead English Defence League type who probably has a few tattoos.

It was about as subtle as being smashed over the head with a sledgehammer.

For the BBC, the skinhead England fan is the perfect decoy – a sneaky, subliminal image deployed so it didn't have to tell its viewers the REAL source of the rise in anti-Semitic attacks.

Because the truth is so inconvenient and politically incorrect that BBC staffers would probably rather chew off their own arms before naming the real reason (and of course their arms would have to be made of tofu, accompanied with a nice Fair Trade organic green tea).

Instead, the BBC implies – without openly saying so – that there is a rise in Far Right extremism, represented by the capped England supporter.

This is complete and utter bunkum, and the BBC knows it.

Decline

There is NO rise in the Far Right in Britain. If anything, it's in decline.

It's easy to pinpoint what IS to blame for the rise in anti-Semitic attacks – and it's not some tattooed bloke in an England shirt.

The rise we are witnessing is in extremist anti-Semitic Islamism. Not just here, but across Europe.

So if the BBC wants to generalise in the way it did last week – and it absolutely should not – then it would be nearer the truth if, instead of showing a man in an England cap, it showed a Muslim walking into a mosque.

Justin Dunn's Room 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

In life, you're a tw*t! In death, you're a legend! It's bollocks!

I'M starting to think there might be something in this dying lark.

No matter how much of a talentless, feckless or irritating waste of space you are in life, in death you suddenly become quite a legend.

Breathing and standing and saying a few inane lines might see you scorned for a generation while on terra firma – but slip into the netherworld and the planet slaps you heartily on the back. Just see the reaction to the unfortunate and premature death of Stuart "The Brand" Baggs, a young man who failed to win The Apprentice TV show a couple of years ago.

Cocky

Here was an individual – telly-wise at least – who was ridiculed far and wide when he was portrayed by the BBC as a boorish, cocky upstart simply begging for a fat dose of fully deserved comeuppance.

When his sudden death at just 27 was announced at the weekend, though, the solemn hush fell only briefly before the plaudits broke out like Buckingham Palace trumpeters.

He was, it turns out, the nicest bloke ever to walk the earth and one of our most hard-working bright sparks. Then we have the case of the now late Cilla Black, whose death was first reported on Sunday afternoon.

By Monday morning the city of Liverpool was overrun by stupidly excited broadcasters and their satellite trucks, busily pointing their microphones at anyone who could be arsed speaking to them.

"How do you feel," they asked, breathlessly – eyes so ablaze by the hunt for gloom glory you'd think they'd harpooned a lion that among other lions was emphatically NOT called Cecil – "about Cilla's passing?"

"Who?" replied anyone under 25.

If you believed what you saw on Any Bloody News Channel At All on Monday, Liverpool was "a city in mourning".

Certainly the desperate local rag was at it, adorning its entire front page with a picture of the former singer and dating show presenter – akin to what one of my mates described as "the full Diana treatment".

For those also under 25, Diana was a royal personality who died 18 actual real life years ago this month, although some editors still seem to think that:

a) she carked it yesterday
b) anyone other than her family is still remotely arsed.

The problem with all this overblown sympathetic puffery is that it just ISN'T true.

Yes, it gave the usual bunch of professional scousers one of their rare and frankly embarrassing moments on the telly to reminisce about a woman who barely stepped foot in the city for the last 40 years.

But the real, actual, genuine reaction by many – especially in the centre of this "city of mourning" – was pretty much the same to the news of any other 70-something-woman-that-we-don't-actually-know-meeting their maker: "Shame."

It must all be terribly exciting for my mum, though, who happens to be the exact same age as the late Cilla Black.

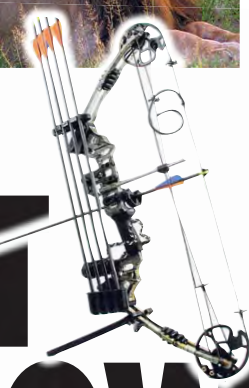

She'll be delighted to know I'm already working on the speech...

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A MYSTERY multi-millionaire has offered a £1million bounty on the sicko dentist who tortured and killed Africa's favourite lion Cecil.

Big game hunter Walter Palmer, 55, sparked global outrage when he paid £30,000 for the opportunity to kill the majestic beast.

He lured Cecil out of his protected game park, injured him with a bow and arrow, stalked the wounded animal for 40 hours, then shot it dead with a rifle.

Now a message has been posted on one of the radical animal rights forums on the dark web from a man calling himself Cecil's Avenger.

Sicko

The message reads: "Palmer must pay. We will avenge the murder of Cecil. £1million of my personal fortune will be paid in bitcoins to the person who kills the sicko palmer with a bow and arrow and messages me an image of him with his head."

But Bert Woodford, of Animal Justice, said: "We were all horrified and sickened by the disgusting behaviour of this man, but that does not mean we condone any kind of retribution."

"Walter Palmer will have to live with what he did for the rest of his life – and that will be his punishment."

Laird

By HAZEL GROVE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

SELF-confessed nympho Jenny Laird admits she just loves nothing better than a good HOLIDAY BONK!

The mega-busty 32DD babe revealed she gets extra frisky when she's on her travels.

Jenny, 25, from Tamworth, said: "I'm always feeling horny on holiday. I don't know why, but I'm constantly craving sex!"

"In one year, I think I shagged 30 guys while overseas. I know that sounds like a lot, but I absolutely loved it and I have no regrets."

"I went to Spain recently and was just unstoppable, having sex in the pool, on the beach, in the clubs. I had threesomes – even a FOURSOME!"

"I always figure that it doesn't count if you're abroad, so why not enjoy yourself?"

MIDWEEK Sport SPECIAL INVESTIGATION: INSIDE

Men get giving us CASH!

'If a man can afford it then I'm happy to spend his money'

CURVY Caroline Fletcher, 32, from Manchester, said: "If a man can afford it then I'm happy to spend his money. "And I love letting him watch me try on the fetish wear, it's so sexy. Especially when he's paying."

Sordid

"There is nothing sordid about it, I don't even have to go down on him, though it's one way to say thank you.

"Everybody wins. Any girl costs a guy money – the only difference with me and my fellas is we agree the amount in advance.

"The guy also gets to enjoy whatever I buy, particularly if I go for sexy underwear.

"I know lots of girls who want to get involved in the fetish.

"Most of the men are unhappy and I like to think I bring a smile to their faces."

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

MILLIONAIRES are blowing their cash – and their loads – by giving sexy strangers mountains of MONEY.

A special sex investigation has uncovered the sordid spending habits of wealthy men with a fetish for the financial dominatrix.

Our crack team found rich fellas love handing their credit cards to sexy young women, as they get a hard-on by watching the ladies buy luxury gifts for themselves.

Undercover reporters initially witnessed the high earners giving away presents such as spa days, spray tans and designer dresses.

But as they dug deeper they discovered the financial dominatrix babes receiving luxury yachts, cars and even cosmetic surgery.

One source said: "These girls may seem innocent but if they have one hand on a man's cock, you can bet the other is in his wallet!"

"They know what they want – and they know how to get it."

"Some women go from having nothing to having everything – sometimes in just a few days... and the men LOVE IT."

"One guy was seen almost getting a happy finish just from the sight of a chip and pin machine."

"These perverts don't get off watching porn – they watch their bank balances instead."

The Midweek Sport probe began in Manchester, where we found a deep underbelly of sex spending.

Young women, most of whom wish to remain anonymous, were seen hanging out in the city's most expensive hotels, waiting to pounce on single, mostly older, men.

While the transactions usually began with a glass of wine, pretty soon the guys were taking the girls on shopping sprees that lasted days at a time.

The fetish also has an online presence and can be found as far north as Aberdeen, where the lonely oilmen of the North Sea are rich pickings. Girls can also be found working in the Midlands, in well-to-do towns in Kent and Surrey, and in central London.

A source added: "These guys don't want sex, they are quite happy giving the old chap a tug while the lady swipes their American Express."

"Credit is a powerful aphrodisiac."

"And if you've got it, you might as well flaunt it."

WORLD OF THE FINANCIAL DOMINATRIX turned on...

'I don't ask for money ...he just volunteers'

LUSTY Lisa Andrews, 23, from Aberdeen, said: "At first I felt guilty about taking men's money."

"But then my computer broke and I needed a new one."

"I couldn't afford to buy one myself and didn't have any way of earning that amount of money."

"But one day I was talking to this guy in a hotel bar."

"We chatted for a bit and I thought nothing of it really."

"But the next thing I knew a brand new PC arrived at my room."

"He seemed so pleased with himself and I didn't have the heart to give it back."

"Since then he has spent THOUSANDS on me."

"I don't ask for money, he volunteers and seems to get more out of it than me, so who I am to say no?"

'I was trying on a Cartier watch and he had a massive hard-on in the shop'

PRETTY Emily Matthews, 20, of north London, said: "Modelling wasn't paying the bills and a friend told me that blokes would pay me to go shopping."

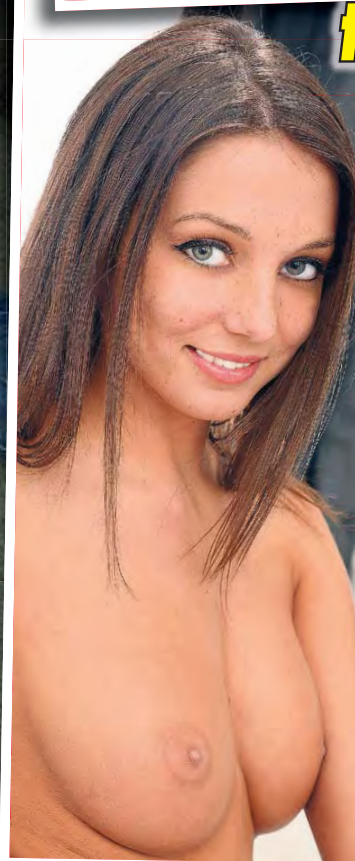

"I then stick everything on eBay - to pay my rent."

"These guys have so much money, and some even put it on their work credit cards!"

"A pearl necklace is a drop in the ocean to them, but it means so much to me."

"If they're happy then I'm happy. Though it can be awkward - once I was trying on a Cartier watch and he had a massive hard-on in the shop!"

"I'm not that kinky but I think I've found the fetish for me."

"It sounds a bit wild doesn't it, but he was a really nice guy and looked amazing for his age. I was a precocious sixth former eager to learn and he was an amazing teacher!"

"At the start of that summer I had never seen a naked man and by the time I went into U6 I was an experienced lover with a taste for sex that extended to aI and even bathroom play! What a little slut!"

"I reckon the whole experience has had a lot to do with why I love being with younger guys...call it returning the favour, if you like!"

"I have a couple of guys I can call upon when I need some c inside me but most of the time I'm content to just have fun with my phone, swapping texts and rude photos with complete strangers. Perv knifed himself then rubbed penis against feet

A DANGEROUS sex offender with a foot fetish STABBED himself and asked a woman for help before EXPOSING himself to her.

The woman initially helped David Bennett, but he then grabbed her leg, took her shoes off and began rubbing her feet.

The frightened woman then noticed that his penis was poking out and he had knife in his waistband.

When her mobile began to ring, Bennett became irate and she feared for her safety.

He then started rubbing her left foot against his erect penis and kissing her toes.

The terrifying ordeal continued until her boyfriend arrived and she was able to escape.

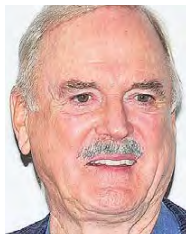

Afraid

She only told her partner what happened when they got home as she was afraid Bennett might stab him.

Bennett, of Skelmersdale, Lancashire, was jailed for six years at Liverpool Crown Court after being found guilty of sexual assault and possessing a craft knife.

The judge imposed a Sexual Harm Prevention Order, banning him from approaching lone females and touching their feet or legs.

He was also put on the sex offenders register for life and given an indefinite restraining order to keep away from his victim.

Monty Python back on screen – after 40 years

AND now for something completely... the SAME (but different)!

A new SINGALONG version of Monty Python's Holy Grail movie is being shown in honour of its 40th anniversary.

The 1975 classic will be shown at 500 cinemas around the UK for one night only on October 14.

Fans will also be treated to an exclusive filmed introduction from Python stars Terry Jones, Terry Gilliam, Michael Palin, Eric Idle and John Cleese (above).

Dressing up as a favourite character from the movie is also being encouraged to add extra fun to the evening.

Every member of the Python group had multiple roles in the film.

Palin played the most characters (12) while Graham Chapman had the fewest with four.

Johnny Vegas: I wked in Argos!

By HAZEL GROVE news@sundaysport.co.uk

COMEDIAN Johnny Vegas has admitted he used to wank off in the stockroom of Argos.

The 44-year-old joker worked in the St Helens shop before going to Middlesex University to study pottery.

And while being interviewed on the Richard Herring Leicester Theatre Podcast he admitted secretly masturbating while on duty.

He said: "I worked in the Argos store. I did everything.

"I worked upstairs in the stockroom for the first two years, they didn't really want me on the shop floor.

"We felt lawless up in the stockroom.

"Eventually, they brought me down and allowed me to do some shop work.

Bleeding

"They took me out of the stockroom because I started getting nosebleeds.

"I started bleeding on the stock and it kept getting sent back up.

"There was loads of dust and it was getting in my nose.

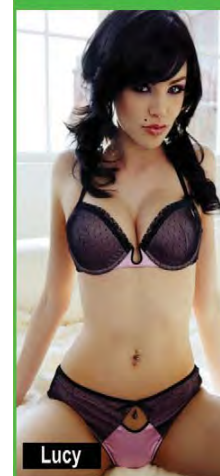

"But if I'm really honest, on the days I was very, very hungover I would hide and masturbate.

"And I felt like I was sticking it to the man."

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

PEOPLE are getting riled up at the migrants in Calais trying to board trucks bound for Britain.

Obviously it's wrong to enter a country illegally, but I can't help feeling sorry for them.

They must be desperate to want to better their lives by going to such lengths.

It doesn't feel right calling them 'criminals' but we still need a better system for dealing with people who want to come to Britain to work.

Ideally, you should be able to apply for jobs from overseas and then arrive in Britain legally.

Then when people arrive they can support themselves.

Another problem is that migrants cannot afford housing, so end up homeless on the streets.

So we should build big, cheap hostels where foreign workers can live until they can rent a flat.

The fact is, Britain is an attractive place to live for many people in the world.

As a person born in this country, I feel very privileged.

When I see people from third-world nations trying to get into Britain – especially the families with young children – I feel so sad.

We have to sort out the broken system so that migrants can work in Britain legally – and stop this crisis.

Only vile Katie could be vicious about brave Cilla's death!

NATIONAL TREASURE: Cilla Black

SAD to see Katie Hopkins using the death of Cilla Black for another vile outburst.

Although we shouldn't be surprised – there seems no depths to which this attention-seeker will sink.

The gobby columnist posted on Twitter: "If there are any celebrities who haven't yet tweeted their sadness over Cilla, please report to Sincerity Services immediately #rushtogush". Rush to gush? What a horrible thing to say.

She's probably just jealous that people mourned Cilla's death – and would celebrate hers!

I've said it before and I'll say it again, there's something deeply wrong with this woman.

She doesn't have any emotions or morals at all.

How else could she say things like that?

I reckon she got attention at school by being nasty to other kids – and has now based her life on getting attention by being a vicious, nasty adult.

Devastated

Her remarks are absolutely vile – she's the Devil's messenger.

Personally, I was so shocked when I heard Cilla Black had sadly died.

I remember how devastated she was when her husband and manager Bobby Willis died of cancer in 1999.

And she previously spoke about not wanting to live past 75 because she didn't want to be a "burden".

So I feel in many ways Cilla is in a better place.

She's back in her husband's arms again and is no longer suffering.

Yes, 72 isn't a very old age – but many stars don't even get that far. They can't handle the fame – just look at poor Amy Winehouse.

Rather than grieve too much, I think people should celebrate Cilla's amazing life – and respect the things she did for the entertainment industry.

That's what she would have wanted.

LINGERIE tycoon Michelle Mone has reportedly been made a Tory peer – and for some reason people are annoyed.

At first, I thought there was a backlash because Michelle is the co-founder of busty bra brand Ultimo – which specialises in DD+ cup sizes.

It turns out Britain isn't put off by big boobs (thankfully!) but they are actually angry because Michelle, who is from Glasgow, opposed Scottish independence.

Now she's been relentlessly "trolled" by SNP supporters since news of her peerage broke last week.

I'm not going to criticise her – she is a successful businesswoman – but it's surely not a coincidence that she's filthy rich!

You wouldn't get a title like that if you worked at the local chippy now, would you?

Never forget – when it comes to politics, it's all about the money.

JESS TELLS OF CHRIS EVANS AIR SHOW CRASH TERROR

SHOCKED:
 Jess (right)
 and car show boss
 Chris Evans

By TOM RHODES news@sundaysport.co.uk

EX On The Beach star Jess Impiazzi has spoken of her HORROR as she witnessed the fatal air display plane crash at Chris Evans's car festival at the weekend.

The 26-year-old glamour model was at CarFest North in Oulton Park on Saturday when the terrifying crash happened.

A Gnat display aircraft – the same type used by the famous Red Arrows – went off-course and crashed during a performance at the three-day event.

RAF-trained pilot Kevin Whyman, 39, died in the crash.

Moments after the incident, Surrey-born Jess tweeted an image showing black plumes of smoke outside the park.

Crowd

The reality star said: "Everyone was just looking up at the display they were putting on."

"There was two red planes – they were doing quite a good display."

"But all of a sudden, one of them kind of just left the other and it went a bit lower and then we just saw it disappear behind a bush and then a massive big ball of black smoke."

"Originally I think the planes were just above us."

"I think if it had just dropped straight down from the sky I think it would have been inside the park."

"As it got lower, that's when I noticed it tried to chuck itself away."

"It almost looked like the pilot pushed it out of the park – to avoid hitting the crowd."

VICKY POPS OUT ON THE TOON!

The Geordie Shore stunna showed off her boobs in a low cut black dress on her way to a party in her hometown of Newcastle.

Vicky, 27, was snapped in the revealing dress during a pub crawl.

One onlooker said: "It's nice to see Vicky back with her old friends."

"And I'm sure her male mates were happy to see all of her!"

Gigi: Give me a good reason and I'll STRIP!

SUPERMODEL Gigi Hadid says she's happy to get her kit off for the cameras – as long as it's for a good reason.

But the 20-year-old insists she'd only get her boobs out if it was tasteful, not just to titillate.

She said: "I've never been scared of being naked in pictures, but I wouldn't do naked for naked's sake."

The blonde babe first got her kit off to promote a perfume in a shoot by photographer Tom Ford.

She said: "That was an easy decision – when you think scent, you don't think of clothes."

"In the beginning, I thought Tom wouldn't want to know me, but when he liked me, other jobs followed."

And she's adamant that modelling is more than just about looking pretty.

She said: "I've always been aware of the business side of the industry. I've always seen it as a career that required work and planning."

Fact me!

Man rumbled by dirty Windows

A MAN who put Windows 10 on his computer woke up to his wife asking why it was showing a slideshow of PORN.

He claims he upgraded to the latest operating system late at night – then woke up to his wife eyeing a screensaver of distinctly fruity images.

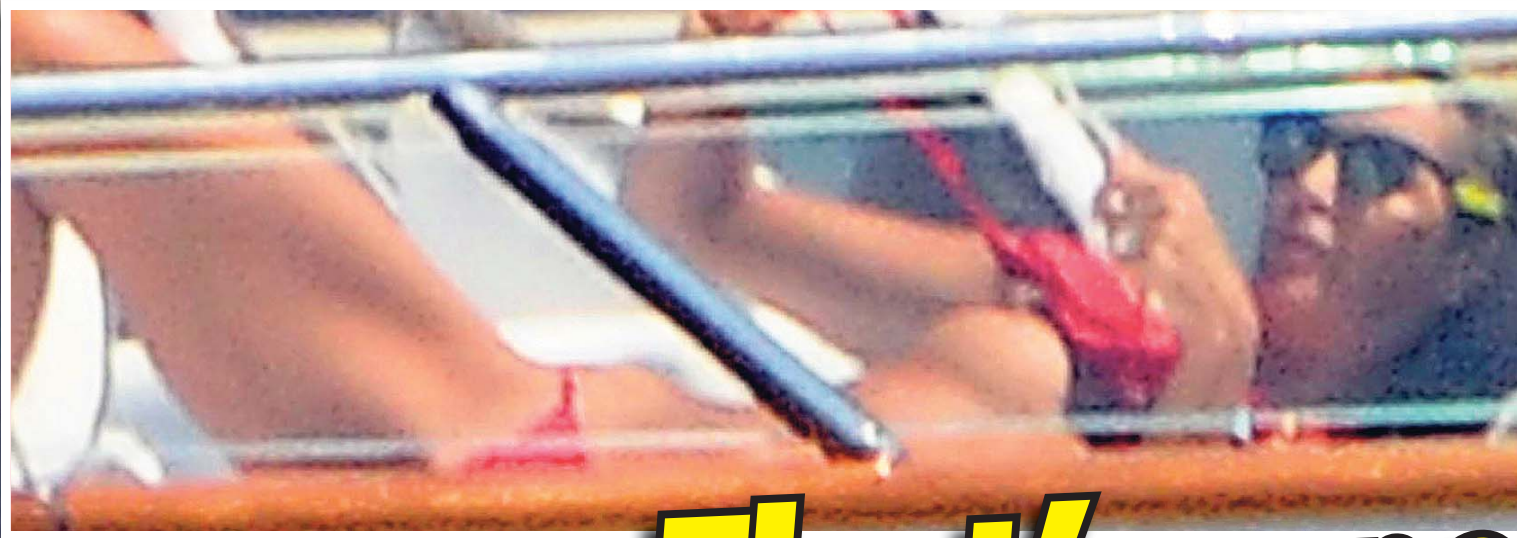

Writing on Reddit under the username FalloutBoS, he said: "Woke up to wife asking why I set it to rotate all my porn images right on the desktop view."

"I have no idea how to shut that feature off."

"Don't make my mistake, keep your private pics out of My Pictures, no matter how deep you hide them in sub folders."

By default, Windows 10 creates a screensaver using images in the device's Pictures folder.

Users wishing to keep 'certain images' private are advised to ensure they're not in that folder.

KNICKER KICKER: Elle gets totally naked

SIZZLING supermodel Elle Macpherson displays her BARE BOOBS on a sun-soaked holiday in Sardinia.

The Britain's Next Top Model host, 51, was snapped TOPLESS on her private yacht last week.

As she relaxed in the scorching heatwave, Elle peeled off her red bikini to reveal her perky 36C norks.

The Australian babe made sure to get an ALL-OVER suntan

By TOM RHODES

news@sundaysport.co.uk

– by sliding off a pair of skimpy leopard-print knickers.

Elle, nicknamed The Body, rose to fame in the mid 80s as a cover girl for the Sports Illustrated Swimsuit Issue.

She later launched a string of successful businesses and had a guest role in Channel 4 sitcom Friends in 1999, playing Joey Tribbiani's girlfriend.

That's one Elle of a body!

NATASHA

Anastasia

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

LONDON lovely Natasha Anastasia has spilled the beans on her slippery LESBIAN romps!

The 27-year-old beauty had a sizzling encounter with a party girl in Las Vegas a few years ago.

And now Natasha, an all-natural 34C, admits she often fantasises about other women.

She confessed: "I'd never been with a woman before in my life, but in Las Vegas anything seems possible."

"There were so many stunning women there that it was hard not to feel attracted to them."

"During my holiday I met a pretty blonde called Taylor."

"For my first girl-on-girl experience it was amazing. She was a great kisser and brought me to orgasm in seconds."

"Since then, I've thought about sex with other women several times. It hasn't happened again yet, but I'm sure it will."

"I'm still very much into men, and would rather date a bloke long-term than a woman. But a girl's allowed to have a bit of fun isn't she?"

Sofia: I look more like a tranny!

HOLLYWOOD stunner Sofia Vergara has been named the world's sexiest woman – but reckons she looks more like a BLOKE.

The actress' famous curves have previously seen her beat off competition from her girl crush Kim Kardashian's huge rear-end, to be crowned the hottest woman on the planet.

But busty Sofia (above) said despite her ample assets she sometimes feels that she looks more like a DRAG QUEEN.

Colombian-born Sofia, who stars alongside Reese Witherspoon in Hot Pursuit, is a sex icon famed for her seductive accent.

But she said she often compares herself to a transvestite when she looks in the mirror – because of her exaggerated features.

The 43-year-old, who is engaged to hunky actor Joe Manganiello, said: "Sometimes I look in the mirror and think I look like a drag queen."

"I'm a woman but I'm very exaggerated – with my boobs, my ass, how I do my make-up and my accent."

Sofia has beaten curvy Kim to the top spot in several recent polls – despite being nine years older.

KATIE PRICE BLOW JOB SHOCK!

MY TREAT:
Katie's kinky message

By JESS GALLEY jess@sundaysport.co.uk

KATIE Price set tongues wagging after she teased that she'd be treating lucky hubby Kieran Hayler to a late night BLOWJOB.

The busty mum-of-five told her half-a-million Instagram followers that it was her stripper beau's turn for a blowie – after she'd given her long blonde locks a blow-dry.

She wrote: "Just had a late night Blowie with @itsdash ready for bed now it's the husbands turn..."

Kinky Katie posted the tongue-in-cheek message alongside a photo of her posing in a skimpy set of pyjamas on her social media site.

She clearly hasn't let her growing brood affect her sex life with husband number three.

Horny

The saucy post comes just weeks after the 37-year-old confessed that her active sex life with Kieran, 28, kept her in shape.

Fans of the glamour model enjoyed the glimpse into the couple's sex life, with the post getting more than 4,000 likes and almost 200 comments.

One horny follower even replied: "I'd love a late night blowie."

Katie and Kieran

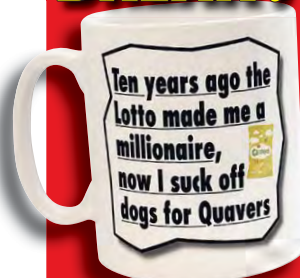

have been married since 2013 and have had two children together.

They renewed their vows in May, putting an end to split rumours after Kieran famously had an affair with his wife's former best friend Jane Pountney when Katie was pregnant.

Love-rat Kieran won Katie back after she caught him and Pountney romping on the beach in Cape Verde.

NAUGHTY Scarlet Bouvier fantasises about getting down and dirty with Transformers babe Megan Fox – in a steamy THREESOME.
The 24-year-old model told how she would love to be sandwiched between her fella and the Hollywood star.
But she revealed she doesn't always just enjoy romping in the bedroom, but instead gets revved up by the thought of doing it in the back of a CAR.

And if there isn't a motor available, she'll quite happily do it in the BUSHES.
Essex born Scarlet said: "The thought of sharing my man with another woman is a real turn on.

"And if the woman was Megan Fox I wouldn't be able to say no."
"That would be amazing."
She added: "I love sex outdoors or somewhere crazy, like the back seat of a car."
"The idea of getting caught really adds that extra element of excitement."

Lea's treat for fan while having a sh*t

BACK to the Future star Lea Thompson has revealed she once signed an autograph while having a SHIT.

The 54-year-old actress (above), who played Marty McFly's mum Lorraine in the 80s sci-fi flick, told how she was dropping a load in a public toilet when she was approached by a fan.

But rather than leave her to squeeze one out, the enthusiast slipped a sheet of toilet roll under the door!

Lea, from Minnesota in the US, said: "I get people coming up to me all the time, saying how much Back to the Future means to them – and now their kids are fans, which is lovely.

"Sometimes it can be a little crazy.

"I've been in the ladies' bathroom and had people slip toilet paper under the stall, asking me to sign it.

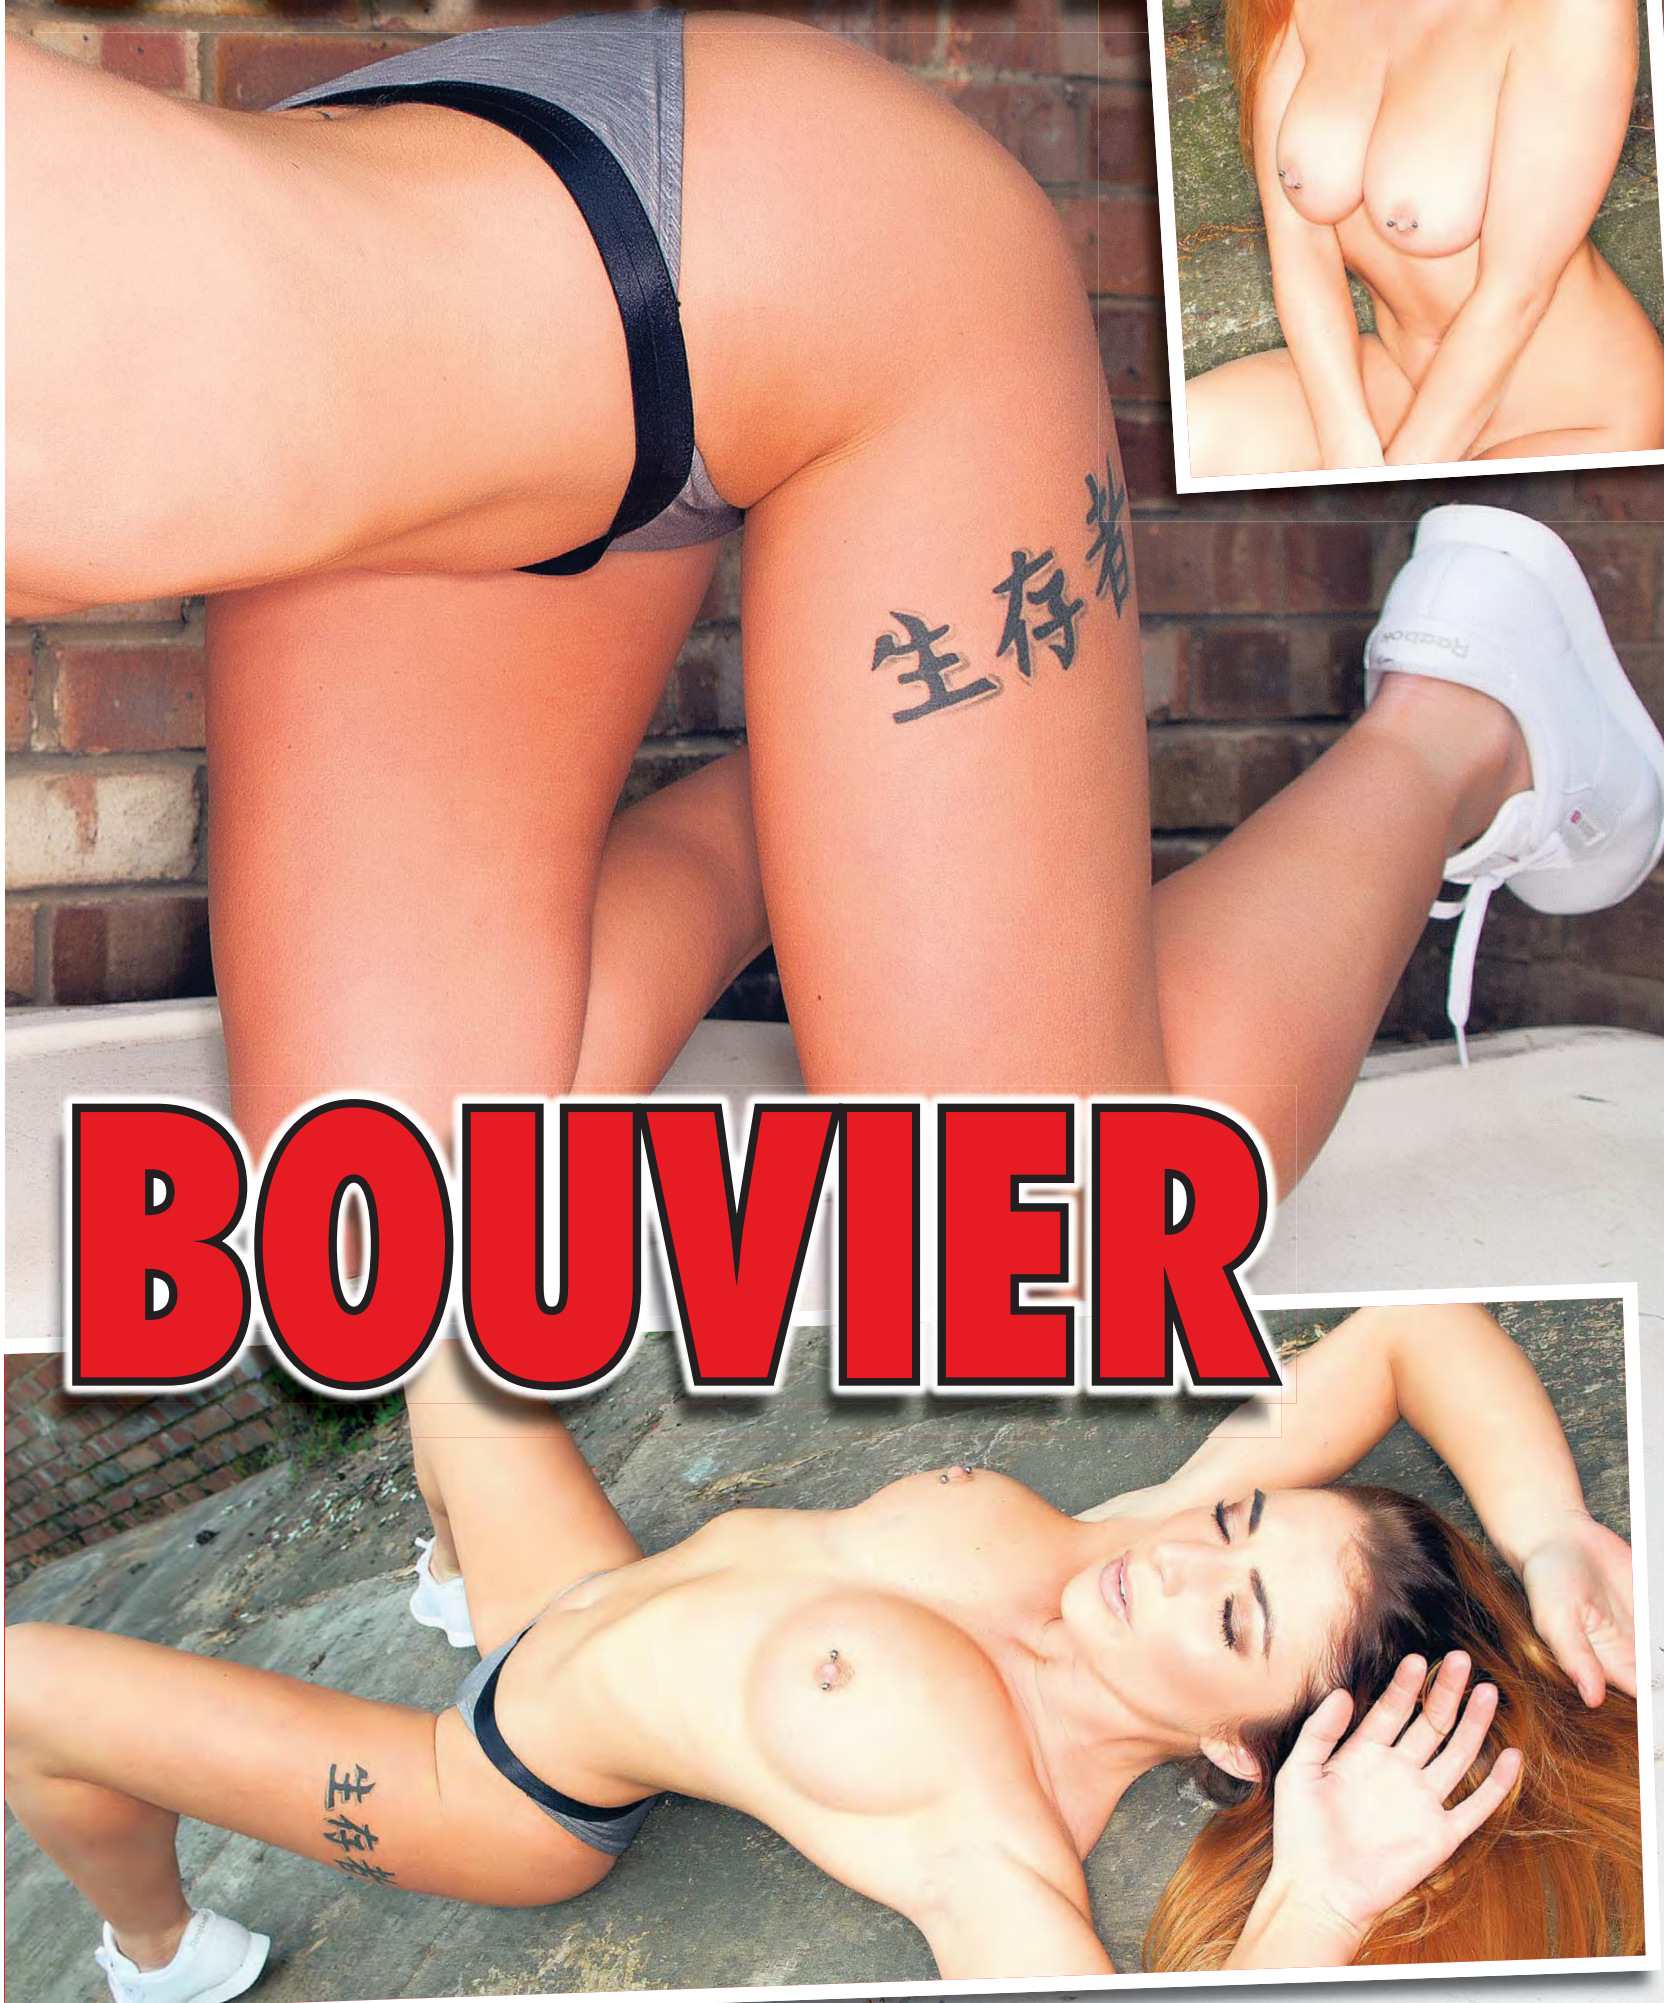

"Somehow it just seems wrong."

A special re-release of the Back to the Future trilogy is now available.

Bunker dumper caught on CCTV

THE desperate owners of an exclusive golf club have forked out for CCTV to try and nab a slippery fairway CRAPPER.

Bosses at Stavanger Golf Club in Norway installed the hi-tech gear following complaints of steamy turds in the course's holes.

The problem began in 2005 when the first brown sausages began to appear.

So course bosses installed spotlights to deter the poo putter – who also leaves behind toilet paper.

But the plan failed to work and the bunker dunker continued.

Groundskeeper Kenneth Tennford said he now hopes to literally catch the culprit with his pants down.

He added: "We know it is a man because the poos are too massive to be from a woman."

child abuse

WAYNE Rooney has signed up as the NSPCC's first ambassador for childhood.

The Manchester United and England captain – the father of two boys – will help the charity fight abuse of children by promoting its campaigns and services, especially those supporting other fathers.

Speaking about his new position, Wazza, 29, said: "Every time I put on the captain's armband, I'm filled with pride.

"I feel the same becoming the NSPCC's first ambassador for childhood and having the chance to help lead the fight for childhood.

"Being a dad of two young boys changes your perspective on everything.

You never stop learning as a parent. It can be tough, and some parents need that bit of extra support.

"It upsets me to think that there are so many children damaged by abuse, or parents struggling to do their best but not able to give the kids the support they need."

RHIAN PILES ON THE AGONY FOR VERNON!

Flirty texts babe gives sex advice

By WENDY THOMAS news@sundaysport.co.uk

SAUCY model Rhian Sugden is embarking on a new career – as an Agony Aunt!

The busty blonde, 28, will be offering sex and relationship advice on YouTube series Rhian Resolves.

Rhian, from Bury, Lancs., launched the online channel last week after being flooded with questions from fans.

She explained: "Most people will know me as the one who 'takes her top off' in the tabloids. I am more than that."

"I am actually a caring and thoughtful person who enjoys helping others."

"After having my fair share of relationships, I am certain I can use my knowledge and experience to help others going through things I have already been through."

Satisfaction

"I didn't set out to have several boyfriends, mind. It's not my fault they all ended up losers/cheaters/abusers/money grabbers."

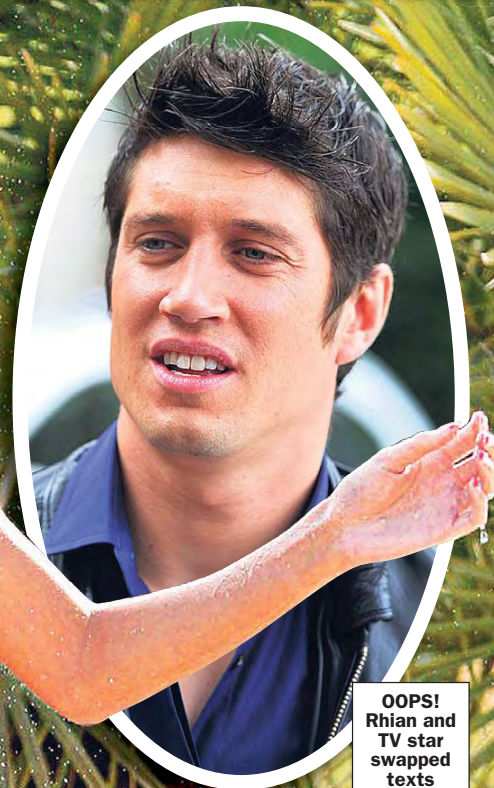

"I will give you the bluntest of blunt advice – whether you want to take it or not. I get satisfaction in trying to sow my seeds of relationship knowledge."

Rhian, a bra-bustin' 32E, has been engaged to former Coronation Street actor Oliver Mellor since last November.

The model made headlines back in 2010 after swapping "flirty" text messages with married TV star Vernon Kay, 41.

At the time, the Family Fortunes host said: "I've let down my wife Tess (Daly). I'm an idiot."

"She is extremely upset about this and we are working through it."

OOPS!
Rhian and TV star swapped texts

Married teacher jailed for romps with boy, 13

A TEACHER has been jailed for having sex with a 13-year-old pupil and sending him naked pictures.

Mary Faith McCormick pleaded guilty to first-degree sexual assault after being accused of raping a 13-year-old boy and exchanging sexually explicit photos and messages for three months.

The 32-year-old married mother-of-one was arrested last August when a friend of the victim found semi-nude photos of the teacher on the boy's mobile phone.

A police investigation uncovered a three-month affair between the sixth-grade teacher at Siloam Springs Intermediate School, Arkansas, and the boy.

McCormick resigned from her post at the school in September 2014.

According to a probable cause affidavit, the teacher and the teenager had consensual sex at least twice.

The sexual fling began after a friend 'dared' the 13-year-old to reach out to McCormick.

Beer garden wins out over bedroom romps

By TOM RHODES news@sundaysport.co.uk

ONE in five Brits claims their sex life "hasn't improved" in the last year, a shock poll reveals.

The survey – by Durex – shows that people are feeling less HORNY in the bedroom – despite it being the so-called 'season of sex'.

Overall, 20 per cent said that things hadn't got better in the past year.

And one in 10 people admit they hadn't tried a new position for over SIX years!

Only 13 per cent said they will be "more adventurous" this summer – with most people preferring to spend their evenings in the local BEER garden.

And just FIVE per cent of people claim they'd spend more time with their partner this summer.

Sex and relationships expert Alix Fox said:

"It's easy for couples to fall into a predictable routine in their intimate lives.

"Convenience, lack of time, or just force of habit are the main culprits for taking the sizzle out of sex.

"But since summer tends to raise people's spirits and energy levels, it's the ideal season to try some sensual new tricks and techniques together."

Frisky

Sex therapist Tammy Nelson added: "You don't have to sling your partner around the bed to have great sex.

"In fact, sometimes it's even more sexy to force yourselves to relax and enjoy one position, to hold it longer than you would normally enjoy."

Midweek Sport stunna Carrie Rothwell, 23, from Barnsley, reckons she'll be trying a few new TRICKS on holiday this summer!

The 32E beauty said: "I'm going to Magaluf with the girls next week – and I can't wait to get frisky!

"I absolutely love holiday sex. You don't feel like you're being judged, because everybody's doing it.

"I don't think you've had a proper summer holiday until you have at least a few one-night stands.

"And I'm definitely more adventurous during the summer. You're wearing less clothes, you're feeling sexy and you want to impress the boys!"

There's something so horny about knowing other guys are watching you get down and dirty

By CLAUDIA TANNER news@sundaysport.co.uk

KINKY Zoe Fox says the idea of going DOGGING gets her engine revved up!

The 30DD glamour model fantasises about having the ride of her life with her bloke in a secluded car park at night while other men watch.

And the self-confessed exhibitionist admitted that she'd love to show them all just how well she can handle a gear stick.

Zoe, 24, told the Midweek Sport that she'd even consider allowing the spectators to join in the fun.

The Cardiff babe said: "I imagine driving and pulling over into a quiet car park or woodlands with my fella.

"In my fantasy we've innocently ended up at a dogging spot by accident.

"Before we know it, things are getting frisky and we're kissing and caressing each other.

"It's such a turn on knowing that we could get caught at any moment – and that's exactly what happens.

"At first we're startled when another guy appears from nowhere and just stands there watching us.

Flash

"But then we decide to enjoy it and put on a performance. The guy in front of us is obviously turned on.

"More men appear then and I'm loving being the star of my own amateur sex show.

"I'd start off teasing them with a little flash of the flesh here and there, before revealing more of my naked body and going all the way with my man.

"There's something so horny about knowing you're being watched while you get down and dirty.

"I'd get turned on knowing that the other guys were getting aroused by our show.

"Who knows, I may even wind down the window and allow them to touch me! The idea of loads of hands caressing my body is so hot.

"I'm sure the bloke I'm with at the time would feel like a stud – as long as he's not the shy and retiring type!

Older babe blew off my sexual cobwebs

Dear Bailey,

MY wife divorced me three years ago and I've really been missing the sex.

I'd never been very good at picking up girls and I felt really depressed after she left me.

Then a new couple moved in next door. They invited me over for a drink one night and we became good friends.

They were both in their forties and the husband was always away on jobs, so his wife would quite often ask me in to do some tasks around the house. Last week she asked me if I could fix the shower and when I got there she was wearing a short and slinky negligee.

She may have been 10 years older than me, but her body was unbelievable. She had an arse like J-Lo and breasts like your own Linsey Dawn McKenzie.

As she led me upstairs I could see right up her crotch and my cock began to twitch.

When we got up there she said with a smile on her face: "Don't mess with the shower, why don't you mess with me instead?"

Thrust

She led me into the bedroom and lay on the bed. Then she opened her legs, saying to me: "I'm sure you know what to do with this."

She pulled her g-string to one side and started to finger her shaven pussy.

I stripped quickly and thrust my cock inside her. After so many years without sex, I came in about 30 seconds – but she didn't worry about that.

She went to work on my cock with her mouth. I was soon hard again as she flicked her tongue over the tip of my penis before taking its full length to the back of her throat.

She then got on all fours and this time I managed to last a good 10 minutes as I brought her to a screaming orgasm while massaging her clit.

Problem is, she now wants to leave her hubby and move in with me – but I really like her fella and don't want to hurt him.

What should I do?

TM, Kent

Bailey says...

IT'S a bit late to be worrying about her husband. You'll just have to tell her you're not interested.

Letter of the day

Dear Bailey,

I WENT to the zoo at the weekend with my missus. It was years since we'd been and we had a really great time.

The best bit was after we'd had a look at the chimpanzees.

We saw one pair getting really frisky and we watched gobsmacked as the male humped his mate.

It was such a good performance that my missus dragged me away to a little wooden pavilion.

Once inside, she pulled down my keks, lifted her skirt and presented her arse for rear entry.

Her minge was soaking in anticipation and I plugged her good and proper – monkey-style.

Now she's on about getting a pet chimp. What do you think?

FC, Cheshire

Bailey says...

CARING for a chimp takes devotion. Stick a wildlife DVD in and hope that does the trick.

Dear Bailey,

I'VE been a member of a tennis club for a few years and often crack one off inside the men's changing rooms which overlook the courts.

I usually do it on ladies' match night after I've finished my game.

I stand up on a bench and peep through a high-level window with my floppy cock in my hands.

Then I see a skirt ride up and spot white knickers. My cock is rigid straight away and I start to slowly tug on it.

I've usually shot my load for the first time before they've changed ends.

My problem is that I have a barren spell through the winter.

Any ideas?

CB, Norfolk

Bailey says...

GET yourself some women's tennis vids and get a grip of yourself at home.

Dear Bailey,

I GET really turned on by buttons. Whether they're fastened on me, or I'm undressing someone wearing them, they give me a raging hard-on.

It's a bit of an unusual fetish, so I have to go to a specialist lady of the night to live out my fantasy.

I have had two special sets of clothes made up for us for when we meet up, which obviously contain thousands of buttons.

There must be 30 of them in the crotch area alone on my outfit and I love it as she slowly undoes all of them and unleashes my throbbing manhood.

She then slowly licks the length of my shaft as she continues to undo the 200 or so buttons on my trousers.

This girl is a specialist at deep-throat and once she's finished undoing all the buttons she lets me face-f*k her while I undo hers.

Do you think this is a bit weird?

NB, Manchester

Bailey says...

NOT at all, so long as you're both enjoying it.

Shit end to loo romp

Dear Bailey,

I WENT to a beer festival with a few mates and was pleased to find that it wasn't full of bearded, sandal and sock-wearing real ale bores.

In fact, being a university town, it was rammed full of girl students. They were in the shortest of shorts in the hot weather and knocking back the booze like good 'uns.

My mates and I got chatting with one group and I pulled. We sneaked off into one of the on-site portable toilets and I soon had her keks off and was licking her out.

Then I plunged in with my knob. We were really going for it when the bog contraption tipped over, sending us crashing arse over tit.

The poor girl was mortified and, after we had been rescued, wouldn't give me her number before she fled.

I'd love to see her again.

GH, Cambs

Bailey says...

I expect it will be ALE over for you after that sobering experience.

Haven't seen your favourite model for a while? Drop us a note and we'll put her in the paper! Email request@sundaysport.co.uk

BROOKLYN BLUE

SURREY scorcher Brooklyn Blue, 24, is the choice of landscape gardener Harry Parker, from Manchester.

The 31-year-old reckons Brooklyn – real name Becky Constantinou – is his “favourite British porn star”.

He wrote: “She's got a cracking body – and a very dirty mind!”

“When I found out she'd done HARDCORE films, I was delighted!”

“It was like my prayers had finally been answered.”

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

CLAIRE RICHARDS

NOPE, not the chunky one from Steps – it's stunning Sport babe Claire Richards!

The 23-year-old, from Wembley, was chosen by her “biggest fan” – estate agent Darren Masters.

Darren, 30, from Stockport, said: “I think Claire has the perfect glamour girl look.”

“She has got incredible curves, a pretty smile and a winning personality.”

“It's a shame she hasn't been in the paper for a while... would you mind publishing a cheeky snap?”

MICHELLE MARSH

DRIVING instructor Bill Wilshire reckons Michelle Marsh, 32, deserves a spot in this week's Show Me The Honey.

The 44-year-old, from Leeds, insists Michelle's all-natural 32G whoppers are “the best in the business”.

And Bill also enjoyed her saucy girl-on-girl photoshoots with busty pin-up Lucy Pinder, 31.

He told us: “Michelle is one of the all-time best glamour models. She's a classic.”

“I made a point of buying the newspaper every day just to see her latest pictures – and her lads' mag shoots were great.”

“Unfortunately, she's retired from modelling now. Would you mind printing one of her topless snaps for old time's sake?”

BAD news! Brits are more sexually frustrated than 10 years ago, a new sex poll has revealed.

Figures show that people's sex lives have FLOPPED, with more than half of all adults admitting they aren't satisfied in the bedroom.

Stats gathered by condom makers Durex show that 60 per cent of bonkers want to be getting their end away more often than they currently are.

That figure is well up on the stats gathered in 2005, which showed only 49 per cent of people were left wanting between the sheets.

Despite the results, 55 per cent of the UK population say they have sex at least once a week.

One sex expert said: "Nobody really knows why people are more horny now than they were 10 years ago, but one possible reason is easier access to hardcore porn."

Romping

"With just a few clicks you can see the experts going at it, which is bound to turn you on."

"It's not that people aren't having as much sex, it's that they seem to have higher standards now – which can only be a good thing."

Durex asked 26,000 people around the world as part of its annual Global Sex Survey.

In their romping rankings, Britain finished a rod-softening

By SAM WALKER

samw@sundaysport.co.uk

18th out of 26 countries, putting us in the bottom half of the planet's most sexually satisfied folk.

Entering at the bottom of the bonking league this year is Japan, where only 15 per cent of people admitted getting the chance to blow their load as much as they would like.

And not surprisingly the French want more dirty nights, with just a quarter of baguette-munchers getting their Froggy fill.

Anxious

Durex sexpert Susan Quilliam, who has written an updated version of 70s bestseller The Joy of Sex, said: "We know so much more about how sex works, how our bodies work."

"The whole issue of having better sex and having more sex is one that is very close to my heart."

"All the research suggests that not only does good sex bring you closer to your partner, it also makes you feel better about yourself."

"People who get emotionally involved in sex are less anxious and less depressed, so it helps all round."

"It tends to lower stress levels and gives you better health in general."

Sandra Shine says...

SEX is the most important part of my day – but it doesn't matter how often I ride my man, I can always go for another session.

Satisfaction in the bedroom isn't about how much sex you're having, but how much your fella turns you on, so I'm never satisfied.

Jasmine Fox says...

I GET all the sex I want. If I'm home alone and I start to get turned on, I order a pizza and have a bit of a nibble with the delivery man.

There's no real need to be frustrated these days – sex is everywhere.

We should all be at it like rabbits. I know I am!

Linsey Marie says...

I'M constantly on Tinder and I'm always on a date. As a woman I can shag whoever I like because, let's face it, a man will stick it in anything! But I imagine it's much more difficult for men – us girls are much more picky. I'm not surprised the French aren't satisfied, they're always at it!"

SYLVIA BARRIE

By ANN COATES

neil@sundaysport.co.uk

WE don't need an excuse to show you cheeky geek Sylvia Barrie.

But here are two 32D reasons we think you'll enjoy.

The 29-year-old stripped down to a pair of slinky blue undies and black high heels for this sexy photoshoot after graduating from Derby University.

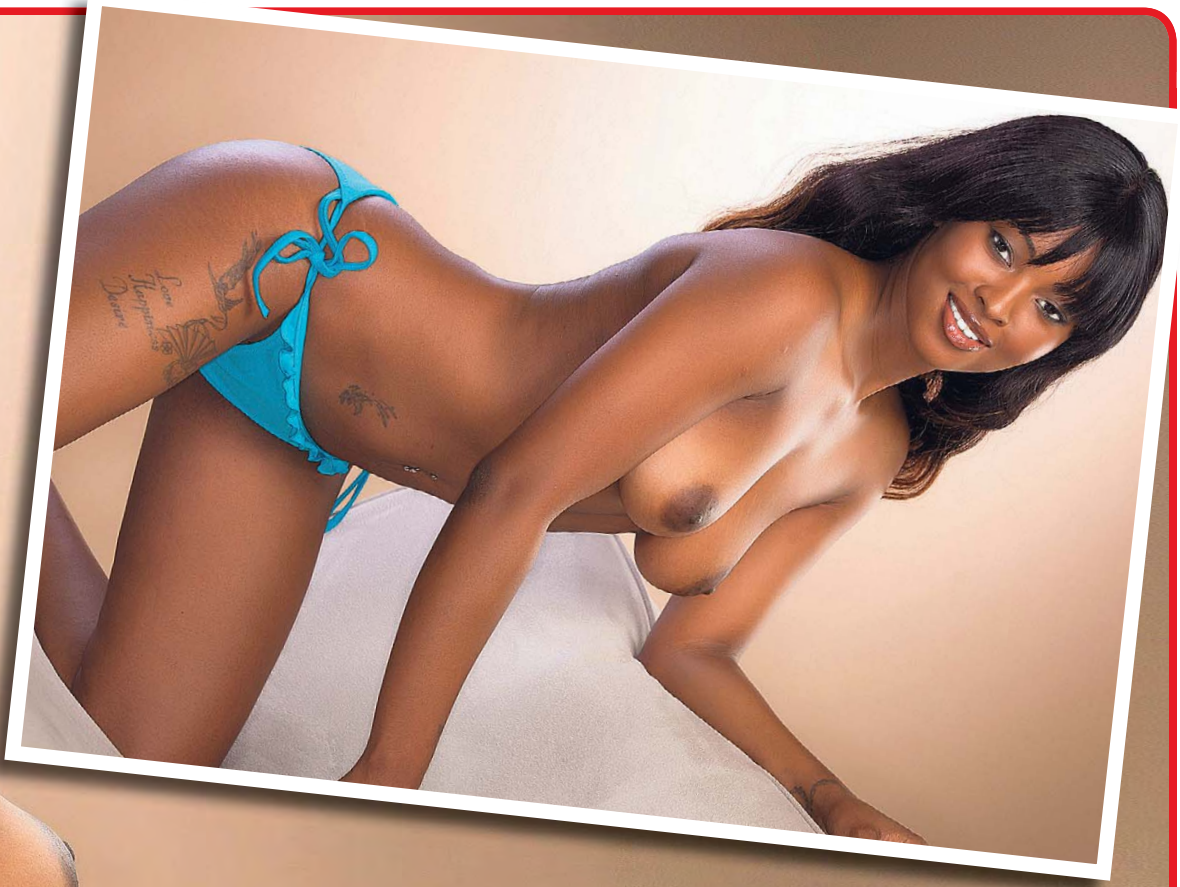

And party girl Sylvia, who shot to fame in 2008 after appearing in Big Brother 9, clearly loves to let it all hang out.

The Sierra Leone-born model said: "When I first went to uni, I went wild."

"I was a party girl."

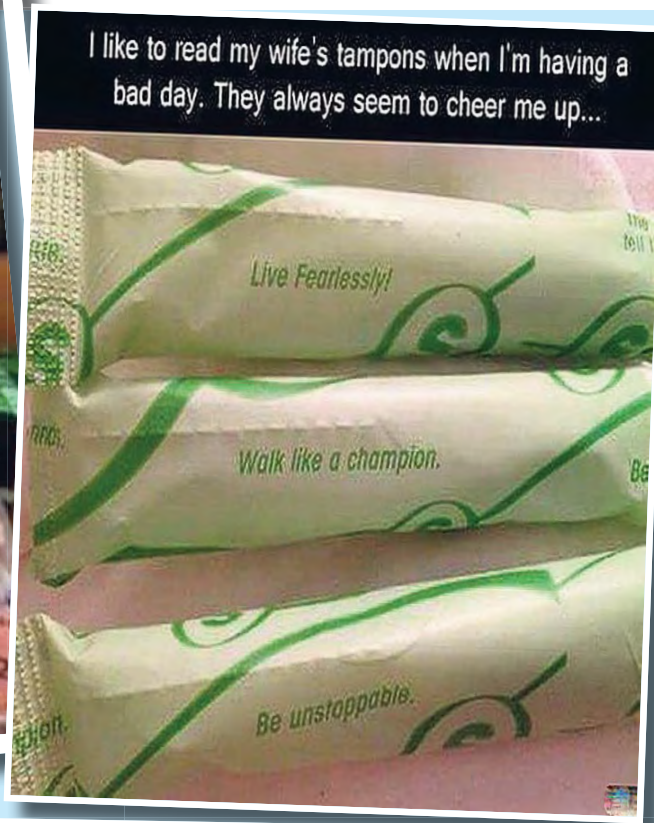

(...just because she's fit!)

Bookies won't be laughing!

YOU'VE heard of the 'Monday Blues' but I don't mind Mondays – it's Wednesdays I can't stand.

Unless Sky Greyhounds have a meeting which is rare there is not a great deal for us to chase. You can punt on the graded fair if you wish but I think that's a quick route to the poor house in my opinion. So we do the sensible thing and swerve Wednesday in favour of the open-race action from Hove tomorrow.

I like the look of What A Laugh who goes in heat-two of the Coral 475m competition. He was soundly beaten behind Vatican Gurkha last time over 515m but that was a valuable sighter of the Sussex venue and big improvement is expected.

He's blessed with big early and the beauty of these 475m events is if you ping and make the corner in front then you can quickly scoot a few lengths clear. I think being an early-paced wide runner is a big advantage and although the race sees Vanfrenchie and Sizzlerscheyenne line up its a plus because we should get a decent price.

Reel Shirty is a real emerging star who shone brightly during the Sussex Cup. He's fancied to beat a rejuvenated Tadys Robin in this 515m.

One thing that really stood out during the Sussex Cup was his consistency at the boxes. Let's be honest in stark contrast Tadys Robin is a bit hit and miss at the boxes but if he did ping we would be in trouble. The most likely outcome though is Reel Shirty will turn in front and run out a nice winner for us.

I really enjoyed the recent Sprint final which saw my NAP Vanayamzaman romp to victory but during that competition Who Needs Pace really caught the eye finishing second.

He's blessed with sizzling early-pace and Seamus Cahill's two-bend star can score tonight with a trap-to-line victory.

FOURTH ASHES TEST STARTS TOMORROW!

CLARKE SPENT

Aussie skipper: I'm team weakest link

AUSTRALIA captain Michael Clarke heads to Trent Bridge for tomorrow's fourth Ashes Test knowing that it could be his LAST in the baggy green.

A defeat would mean England recapture the little urn — and that would spell the end of his career as a captain and probably as a batsman too.

Clarke has been one of the top players on the planet but his form has gone down quicker than a 10-bob tart in the past year.

A quick look at the numbers show just how much of a struggle it has been for the tourists' number four.

He's scored just 365 runs at an average of 28 in the past 12 months with no centuries and just a single ton to his name.

And he's gone from having a reputation for being one of the cleverest captains on the planet to being one of the most pedestrian.

He's fallen out with the selectors big time as he's lost his two most trusted allies in Brad Haddin and Shane Watson who were both kicked out of the team without his agreement.

By NED TRUEMAN

It would be telling that Clarke has put his foot down if either of those players run out at Nottingham tomorrow.

But he knows the biggest problem is with his own form.

He summed it up nicely when saying: "I am most concerned about my form."

"When you bat at number four in an international cricket team you have to make sure you lead the way and make runs. If I make runs I am sure that Voges will follow."

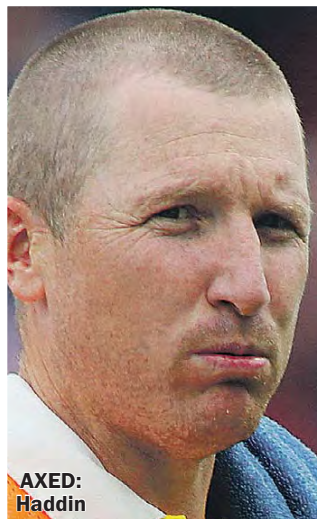

"I think it's always going to be hard to beat any opposition when they've got 11 and we've got only 10."

And it's not like Clarke is getting much backing from home. A poll printed by The Age, Australia's answer to The Guardian but without the spelling mistakes, showed that two-thirds of their readers wanted him to retire.

That was a view backed up by Michael Vaughan, who knows all about the pressure of being an Ashes skipper.

He said: "It is evident from Clarke's batting he is not focussing on the ball and that comes from the mind being elsewhere."

"I did that. I knew I had gone and was distracted by the future."

Tiger: I can win Majors again

GOLF

TIGER Woods has backed himself to come good in the final Major of the season.

He heads for the USPGA next week at least looking like a professional golfer again after finishing in the top 20 in his last competition.

It's not more than two years since he won a tournament and he's better known for bagging a different type of birdie these days.

But that hasn't stopped him looking on the bright side as he tries to close in on Jack Nicklaus's record of 18 major wins.

It looked as though he would streak past that record when he won his 14th major before he had turned 33.

Patient

That seems a long time ago as he turns 40 later this year he's come nowhere near adding to that record for seasons.

He said: "I felt like I hit the ball well enough. I didn't do anything different."

"I said stay patient and it will turn, which it did and I mean I had a run there."

"You've got to score and I made a lot of key putts. The last time I did that is probably Augusta."

Woods has another target to chase as he's only three away from Sam Snead's all-time tour win record.

Despite his new optimism, Tiger has to better his recent major record that saw him miss the cut at St Andrews and in the US Open.

BAYLISS HAS GOT WOOD

By NED TRUEMAN

MARK Wood will give England fans a glimpse of the near future when he takes the new ball at Trent Bridge.

With Jimmy Anderson on the sidelines with a side strain, the Durham man will step into the fray.

And even though Steve Finn was electric in the last game, it will be Wood who gets the cherry alongside Stuart Broad.

With Anderson just turned 33, his days at the top level look numbered so it's a great chance to have a look at the next generation of bowling talent. The only potential spanner in the works is the ankle knock that kept Wood out of the Birmingham Test.

He should be OK for tomorrow but it's telling that the 25-year-old has never managed to play three games in a row in his short career so far.

Assuming he makes it to the middle, new England coach Trevor Bayliss is expecting big things.

He said: "I'd like to see Mark Wood take the new ball."

"Our bowling coach, Ottis Gibson, thinks if we get an opportunity we should give him the new ball, because he has been quite dangerous with the new ball with his county team.

"That's an option as well. We'll just have to wait and see who ends up in the team."

Australia are thinking of shuffling their bowling pack too — because Peter Siddie has an incredible record at Trent Bridge.

The medium-pacer took eight wickets the last time he played on the ground where he was a big hit as a county player for Nottinghamshire.

He played just five county games there but bagged 24 wickets at a very skimpy average.

Trent Bridge is known as the best swing ground in the country and that would suit Siddie's style perfectly.

The man who looks in the firing line is Josh Hazlewood, even though he's taken the most wickets for the baggy greens in the series.

He's been in the team to keep things tight but failed to bowl a single maiden at Edgbaston and has a poorer economy rate than wayward Mitchell Johnson. That could cost him place for at least this game.

AUSSIES TO FIGHT BACK

ENGLAND go into tomorrow's Test with Australia at Trent Bridge knowing a win will regain the Ashes.

This current series hasn't quite captured the public's imagination in the same way as the famous series a decade ago but it has ebbed and flowed although the standard is certainly not as high as it was in 2005.

Jimmy Anderson's record in Nottingham suggests his loss will be a huge blow and, with no rain forecast, the draw is on the drift with two flaky batting sides.

The Baggy Greens are 11/10 favourites to square the series with England 2/1 to take an unassailable 3-1 lead and the draw 13/5.

Michael Clarke's side have fought back once and much depends on Steve Smith (3/1 at BetVictor) to be top first innings runscorer for the Tourists as this looks an ordinary line-up.

There have been rumours of disquiet in the dressing room given keeper Brad Haddin was not selected for Edgbaston having been unavailable for the Lords Test for family reasons. For three balls in Birmingham Mitchell Johnson looked back to his best but having bounced out Jonny Bairstow and Ben Stokes he proceeded to bowl too full at Moeen and the English tail.

Smith can square up Ashes

Josh Hazlewood has looked ineffective and I wonder if Clarke will turn to the pace of Pat Cummins? The Aussies will come roaring back but the bottom line is neither is a top class side. Australia can level it in the absence of Anderson.

Ahead of the start of the Premier League on Saturday it might be worth highlighting a couple of betting pointers;

■ Sunderland (9/4 from 11/4) have attracted twice as many bets on the relegation market as any other side with BetVictor

■ Stoke City and Crystal

Palace are the best backed side to emulate last season and finish in the top ten; they look to have bought well and Alan Pardew has gone about his business quietly but effectively

■ Liverpool are invariably well backed but not this year; Brendan Rodgers is 5/1 favourite to be the next manager to lose his job although with Roberto Martinez's Everton having a very difficult looking start to the season the 12/1 for the Blues boss is proving as popular.

■ Palace are the best backed side to emulate last season and finish in the top ten; they look to have bought well and Alan Pardew has gone about his business quietly but effectively

■ Eden Hazard is 4/1 to become only the 3rd player to win the PFA Player of the Year in successive years; other two were Thierry Henry and Cristiano Ronaldo.

I'm looking forward to seeing FIRESNAKE (2.30) in the 6f nursery at Chepstow; the selection has been taken out of a couple of races in recent days and his handicap rating has gone up 11lb for standing in his box!

He is surely better than a mark of 71 for Tom Dascombe. I can also pass on a good word for SPANISH CITY at Haydock tomorrow; the colt was due to make his debut at Ascot last month but the rain scuppered his chance.

There is no further rain forecast on Merseyside and, whilst the colt won't be knocked about on debut, I would be disappointed if he didn't go very close even at this stage of his career.

Rhino faces big fight to save career

RUGBY LEAGUE

LEEDS Rhinos forward Jamie Jones-Buchanan faces a fight to save his career after rupturing a quad tendon.

He picked up the injury against St Helens in the Challenge Cup semi-final win and the club has now confirmed that he faces up to nine months on the sidelines.

At the age of 34, that must put his future in the game in serious doubt.

The best-case scenario is that he's back in six months so would be available for the whole of next season — but it could be a lot longer.

Jones-Buchanan has been one of the most loyal players in super league, having spent his entire career at Headingley since making his debut way back in 1999.

Determined

Leeds head coach McDermott said: "This is desperately disappointing news for Jamie, and everyone is fully behind him after this setback.

"He is in the best possible hands with our medical team and I have no doubt, given the obstacles he has already overcome in his career, that he will come more determined than ever to perform to his best for the team next season.

"You just wonder, if he didn't play the game like he did, which is 100 miles an hour and tipping his guts into everything, whether he would get injured.

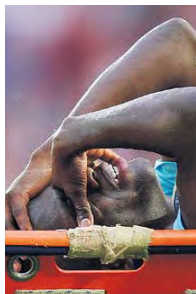

"He landed funny on his knee but the team needed that type of carry.

"It's ironic that he injured himself doing what he does best for the team, which is carrying the ball forward at a million miles an hour."

Leeds will play Hull KR in an all-Yorkshire Challenge Cup final on 29 August at Wembley.

AGONY: Valencia

Hammers a striker light in Romania

Astra (2) v West Ham (2)
Thursday, 6.30pm, BT Sport Europe

THE Hammers head to Romania with their Europa League future hanging by a thread.

Slaven Bilic's side were cruising to a 2-0 lead in the first leg at Upton Park until James Collins (below) was sent off.

The visitors banged in a pair of second-half goals to set up a difficult night for the east Londoners in Europe.

They head out without Enner Valencia who will be missing for around three months after falling awkwardly on his knee and ankle in the first leg.

Co-chairman David Gold says the Hammers will be dipping into the transfer market in a bid to solve their striker crisis with the 25-year-old ruled out.

He said: "We've lost Valencia for the beginning of the season."

Resurrect

"We were already believing that we required another striker in the squad and we'll be doing everything in our power to bring in the best players that we can."

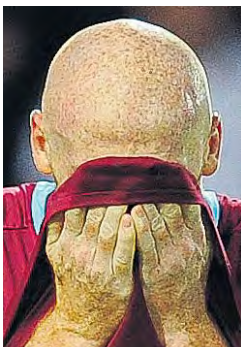

Gold is also trying his best to resurrect a deal for Alex Song who was a big hit while on loan at Upton Park last season.

He's gone back to Barcelona who are keen to offload him.

It's not clear whether Song wants to pull on a claret and blue shirt again, although it's becoming more likely as the transfer window wears on without the midfielder going anywhere else.

Gold added: "We enjoyed Alex Song's contribution, but these things are ongoing."

"We're not panicking, we're not going to do poor deals, we're going to do sensible deals and I think by the time we kick off the new season we should be in good shape."

BREN'S BOOSTER:
Jordon Ibe thinks he'll be a force at Anfield for Rodgers (inset)

Raheem who?

IBE VOWS TO FILL GAP LEFT BY STERLING MOVE

JORDON Ibe says he can help Liverpool fans forget all about Raheem Sterling this season.

The teenager is being tipped to become an even BETTER player than the man who has just moved to Manchester City for £49million.

Ibe has already had a taste of first-team action as he was deployed as a wing back by Reds boss Brendan Rodgers towards the end of last season.

But it's further up the pitch in the position left vacant by Sterling where he hopes to be a big hit as Liverpool aim for the Champions League spots again.

By MARK NAYLOR

Ibe has looked a natural so far during pre-season and it would be a shock if he wasn't on the pitch for the big kick-off against Stoke on Sunday.

He has the combination of pace and power that a forward needs and he looks a bigger and stronger player than Sterling.

But he knows there's a lot of work ahead if he's to hold down a regular spot.

He said: "I'm not completely satisfied with my form because I need to keep working on a few things like my end product, getting the ball and finding someone in the box and trying to add a few more goals to my game."

"I'm quite self-critical. I like to think after a game about things I could have improved on like maybe having taken a shot on or something."

"I know I'm at a young age, but in my position I need to have an end product."

"If I'm not getting a goal in a game then I need to be trying to get an assist for one of my team-mates or making sure I have a great game."

"The season is coming up and I need to keep improving and keep the manager satisfied with my performances so I can get a chance to play regularly in the Premier League."

Mature

And Ibe has already showed desire that seems to be missing from so many youngsters who make the big time before they are mature enough to handle it.

He decided against spending weeks on the beach this summer and came back for pre-season training early in a bid to improve his game. He did that with no less a name than Kenny Dalglish who took Ibe for extra training.

Jordon said: "The boss had suggested that I do some extra sessions to keep myself ticking over during the summer."

"I'm definitely feeling the benefits. All the little bits of extra work add up. I have to give a lot of credit for that."

"It was great to come in and work with someone like Kenny."

"I've done some extra training sessions as well, so hopefully it'll all add up for me."

CLASIE ACT BACK FOR SAINTS

SOUTHAMPTON will be without Jordie Clasie as they defend their 3-0 Europa League lead in Arnhem tomorrow.

But he looks to have recovered from the injury he picked up in the first leg to be able to face Newcastle at the weekend.

The Dutch midfielder was in cracking form in the first game until a hamstring strain forced him off.

Saints boss Ronald Koeman feared the worst as such knocks can take months to heal.

But it now appears that it's nothing serious and a week's rest has been enough to sort it out.

Koeman said: "The news is

Vitesse (0) v So'ton (3)

Thursday, 7pm, live on BT Sport 2 positive. It looks positive for Jordie."

"He's not going to spend a long time out and maybe he will be available next week."

The Dutchman has shown his skill in the transfer market since taking over at St Mary's.

He's seen most of his big name stars leave — mainly for Liverpool — but has invested the cash brought in wisely and Clasie (right) already looks like another example of that.

He's turned his attentions to a position that's close to his heart — central defence — and likes the look of Celtic's Virgil van Dijk who is also on Everton's radar.

He said: "We hope to bring in next week one or two players."

Rhythm

The Bhoys are thought to be holding out for in excess of £10million for their man, with Koeman looking to pay a bit less than that.

Saints received a boost at the weekend with the return of Jay Rodriguez from a long-term injury.

He scored against Espanyol in a friendly during the first game he's played at St Mary's since picking up a serious knee problem 18 months ago.

Koeman wants him back in regular action, but isn't going to rush the England attacker.

He said: "Already the Premier League is too soon for his comeback."

"It was his first time back in St Mary's, a long time ago for Jay."

"He scored a great goal, he was playing 90 minutes and in moments of the game you see he still needs more minutes, more rhythm of play, and it's normal because he was a long time out and he gets that time and that opportunity to come back what we expect from Jay."

RETURNING: Gradel

Max back where he was Bourne

MAX GRADEL says he has come "home" to Bournemouth after sealing a move from St Etienne.

The striker has signed a four-year deal with the Cherries — but he's played for them before.

He was twice loaned to the south coast side in the 2007-08 season when they were in League Two.

Now it's a very different story with Bournemouth the new boys in the Premier League.

Gradel is the seventh man added to the squad by boss Eddie Howe as they try to defy the odds and stay in the big time.

And the 27-year-old says he can really see how much has changed since he was last with the club.

He added: "It feels a little bit strange because everything has changed."

Spurned

"When I first arrived today I didn't recognise the club, but I am very happy to see it is all moving in a good direction."

"It's a good feeling. I am so happy. I had a great time here before so I'm very excited to be back."

"Not many people will understand why I came to Bournemouth. I had offers for more money and bigger clubs, but in football you have to go where you will be happy."

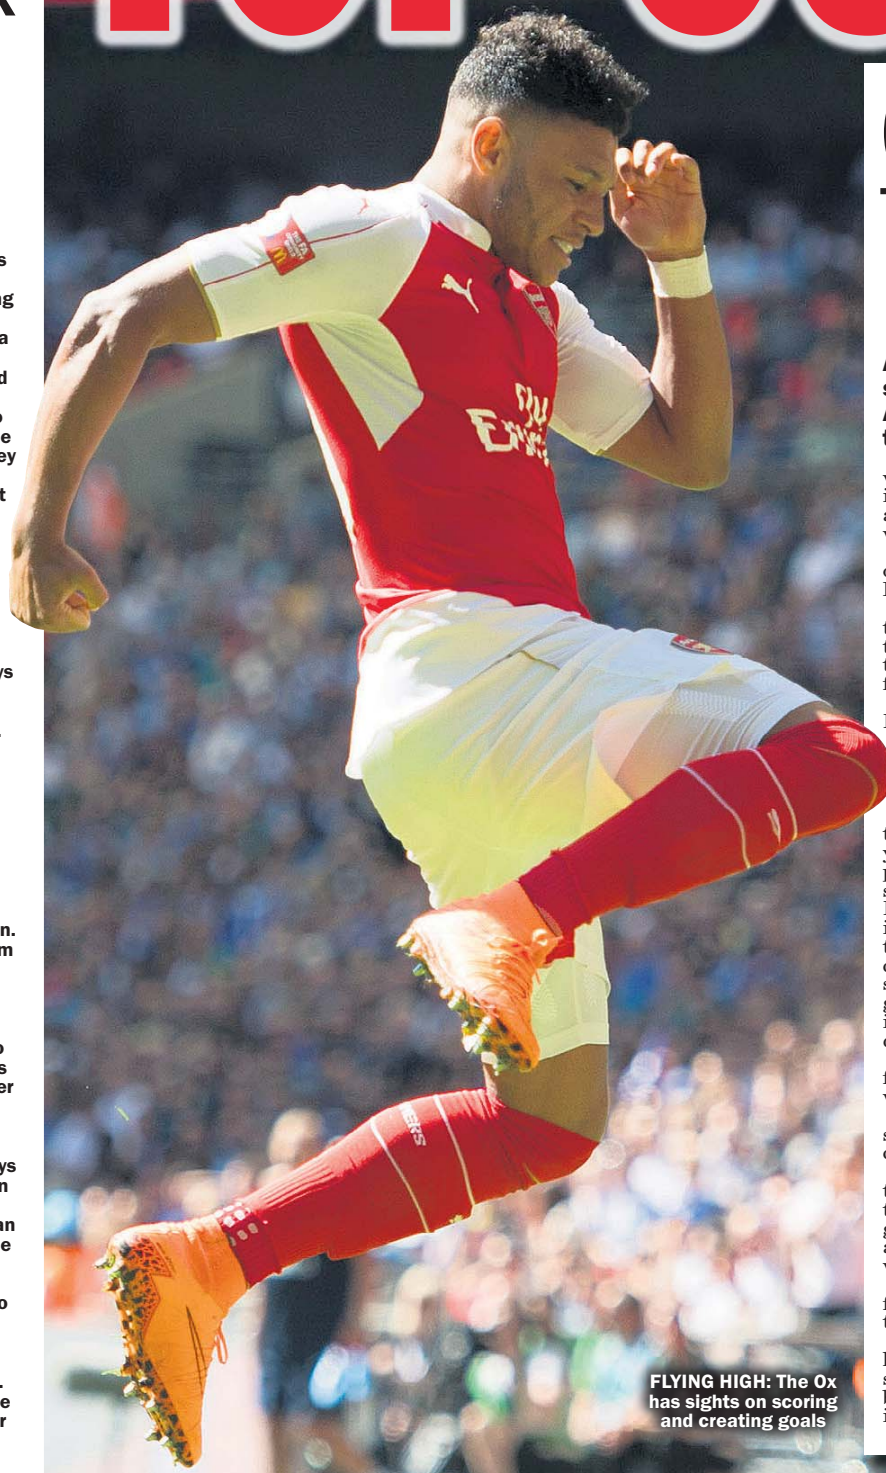

The Ivory Coast star says Howe was one of the main reasons he spurned the chance to play in European competition to sign for the Cherries.

Gradel added: "There were other options, like to play Champions League football in Russia, but I decided to come here because I like Eddie a lot."

"He's always been there for me so it's a big honour to now come and play for him."

FORWARD MAKES GOAL PROMISE TO WENGER

TOP GUNNER

FLYING HIGH: The Ox has sights on scoring and creating goals

Ox says he'll fire Arsenal to glory

By CHRIS KETTLE

ALEX OXLADE-CHAMBERLAIN says is gunning to be Arsenal's top goalscorer this season.

The forward showed his class with a screamer against Chelsea in Sunday's Community Shield and says there is plenty more where that came from.

He says he wants to either score or create at least one goal in EVERY match this campaign.

And that would go a long way to bringing the Premier League title to the Emirates for the first time since the Gunners moved from Highbury.

The 21-year-old said: "It's what I need to do this year, there's no doubting that."

"I'm not afraid to say that I need to score more goals."

"I've set myself that target this year on a personal level so every time I'm on the pitch it's important that I try and contribute in some way and a goal or an assist is what I need to do."

"At the moment I feel good, but you know what football is like."

"You can never speak too soon, so I take each game as it comes."

"I am putting in the work off the pitch and fitness is one of the most important things in the game, it gives you the platform and allows you to do the things you want to do."

"That is always important, so fingers crossed I have better luck this season."

And he senses that something has changed around the Gunners squad this season and there's real belief that they are the best side in the league.

"We have always wanted to win trophies and in the last years we have won a few," Ox added.

"This season we want to go that one better."

"Ever since I have been at Arsenal, we have had numerous quality players and the whole squad had been very strong."

"It just seemed that in the big games we came up short sometimes and you wonder why."

"The mentality going into those games was definitely a big thing."

"Since I have been here we've steadily got better at that, especially last year."

"The addition of Petr Cech will certainly help us."

"He is a quality player, but him as an individual and a character who won things, that's another one with the winning mentality getting in our squad and can only help us going forward."

And while Jose Mourinho laughed off the Community Shield defeat, the Ox says it has taken away the fear of playing Chelsea in the coming league clashes.

It ended Arsene Wenger's (above) 13-match run without a win against his Portuguese rival and the Gunners are eager to take on the champions again.

Oxlade-Chamberlain continued: "It does help the confidence and that belief and faith going into that next fixture against them."

"It is a long season and it is very early doors."

"We can't get too carried away, but it is a good end to our pre-season which has gone really well."

Rafa's Kar won't start

REAL MADRID striker and Arsenal target Karim Benzema has picked up a thigh injury that could see him miss the start of the new season.

The 27-year-old France international, who is top of Arsene Wenger's shopping list, needs more treatment on a dodgy thigh muscle that has been keeping him off the training pitch.

Real kick off their La Liga season at Sporting Gijon on August 23 and Real chief Rafael Benitez says the striker faces a race against time to be fit for that clash.

But the former Liverpool gaffer doesn't expect to be waving goodbye to Benzema this season, even if Arsenal made a silly offer.

Benitez said: "I think Benzema is going to stay with us."

"I'm very happy with him. There's no reason to think that he's going to go."

BO SAYS HE'S RARING TO GO

By PETE BAILEY

FORMER Barcelona striker Bojan Krkic says he's ready to get his Stoke career back on track after six months on the sidelines.

The Spaniard was crocked in the Potters' FA Cup clash with Rochdale way back in January.

He made his comeback in the red and white stripes and looked the part against Porto.

Now the 24-year-old says he's ready to show the Premier League just what he's made of.

He said: "I was happy to start and play over an hour, which was good for my fitness."

"When you play, of course you want to win, but the most important thing about pre-season is improving your fitness."

"I feel really good and every day I feel much stronger, more powerful and more confident and I am happy with that."

"When you come back from a long time out, you need to play and take confidence and that is what I have achieved in the last two pre-season games."

Krkic hit the ground running after switching to Stoke for £3million last summer.

He was just establishing himself in the side before the injury, netting three times in five games before coming a cropper.

It looks as though Sunday's opening Premier League match against Liverpool will come too soon, although he may be on the bench as the club looks to repeat a famous 6-1 win.

Pending

The Spain international says he respects boss Mark Hughes' decision to take his comeback slowly.

He added: "I've been working very hard to be back before the season, that was my target."

"This week I am going to work hard every day so I can be 100 per cent for my first game back in the new season."

"Everybody will be focused this week for our first game of the season and I think the team is very well prepared."

Hughes says there should be at least one new face at the Britannia by the time the transfer window closes.

The Welshman hinted that big money will be paid and the name at the top of his list is Ukraine winger Andriy Yarmolenko from Dynamo Kiev.

Sparky said: "I'm not aware there's anything pending over the next few days, but we're still in the market."

BACK-TO-BACK:
Mourinho targets
another league crown

No Mour battles as Jose only fights for titles

JOSE MOURINHO says him and Roman Abramovich are now the best of mates and have put all their old differences firmly behind them.

The Portuguese left Stamford Bridge under a cloud in 2007 despite bringing Chelsea their first titles since the 1950s, for the then new owner Abramovich (below).

He came back two seasons ago and didn't waste much time in regaining the Premier League crown. Now he wants to see his team become the first to retain the title since Man United six years ago.

Mourinho said: "In my first period, my personal relationship with Abramovich was very good, but professionally we had some interferences and a bit of a disagreement with some ideas."

"In this moment we don't have this problem. When I left Real Madrid to come here, Mr Abramovich asked me to fight for titles."

"In my first season we were almost there, in my second season we did it and in my third season if you are close, you can always do it."

Mourinho thinks it will be harder to win the league this year than it was last time around.

Amazing

He is looking to Liverpool and Tottenham to make a big push for the top four on top of the challenge he expects from Manchester and across London.

Mourinho said: "The top five are the top five, and why not a club like Tottenham to get in there?"

"But in the end history plays a part and investment plays a part."

"Chelsea were four times champion in the last decade."

"Arsenal are a fantastic club with great players. Liverpool have amazing investment."

"Man City is a squad to love and a club with two Premier Leagues in the last four or five years."

"And Man United with everything – the history, the players, the investment. So everybody will be there."

By WILL BRANTON

Before the season even kicks off there looks to be a battle on between the blues and Man United to sign John Stones from Everton.

The Toffees are keen to keep hold of the 21-year-old who has already broken into the England side since moving to Everton from Barnsley.

Rio Ferdinand has, as you would expect, urged Stones to sign for the Reds to make sure he gets enough game time.

He said: "If he goes to Man United, he plays every week so that's the right club for him."

"If he goes to Chelsea, he's not playing every week. He's at that stage of his development where he wants to play every week. If you say to any young footballer to leave a club to sit on the bench, you've got to be a lunatic. You have to be."

IT USED TO BE THE MOST FEARED SHIRT

CURSE of United number 7

From Cantona and Ronaldo to Owen and Di Maria. Can Pedro kill it off?

By MARK NAYLOR

IT used to be the most feared shirt in the land, but Manchester United are having a nightmare with the men wearing the famous No.7.

Go back through the club's history and some of its greatest names wore it. Bryan Robson and George Best were just two great names to don it.

And the roll of honour in the Premier League era started out reading like a who's who of megastars.

Eric Cantona walked through the doors of Old Trafford with just one thing on his mind – to end the club's 26-year run without the title.

And it took him just one season in the No.7 to get the job done. He led the team to a Premier League title and got back the cult of the No.7 at Old Trafford.

When Cantona left the Reds, a certain David Beckham was the next to make the shirt his own.

And he didn't make a bad fist of it as he became the focal point of the midfield that was the best the league had seen since Liverpool's in the late 1970s.

Becks became more than just a footballer, with his Golden Balls nickname summing his life up as he married a pop star – before going to Real Madrid!

But not before he had won a stack of titles for United – and had his head battered in by Sir Alex Ferguson's famous flying boot along the way.

Kingpin

It was going to take some talent to keep the amazing run of geniuses that had donned the No.7.

Step forward Cristiano Ronaldo.

There were plenty of raised eyebrows when Fergie paid a then huge £12million for the 18-year-old, who hadn't shone in Sporting Lisbon colours the year before.

It's a matter of great joy to United fans that Liverpool turned down buying Ronaldo before he moved to them and that cock-up is typical of Liverpool in the Premier League era.

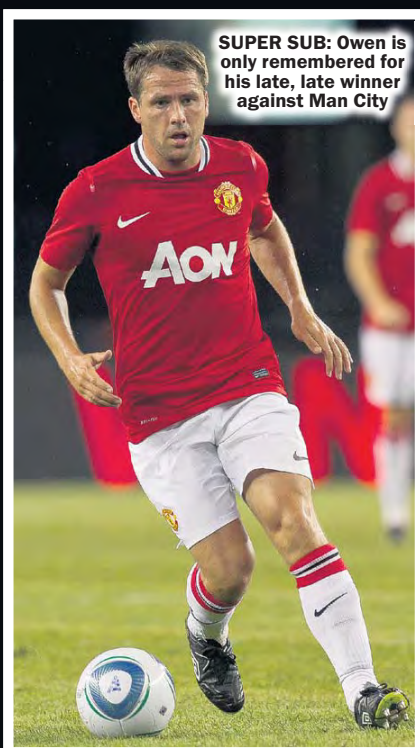

In a glimpse of the ego that was to grow over the coming years, the teenage CR7 had no hesitation in taking the shirt vacated the previous summer by Beckham.

It took him a while to settle in, but he soon showed his class and was the kingpin of the side for the next six years before following the Becks route to Madrid for a huge

IN THE TOP FLIGHT. NOW IT HAS BECOME THE...

MAGNIFICENT SEVENS: Ronaldo and Cantona (above) and Beckham (top right) lived up to the shirt's expectations

SUPER SUB: Owen is only remembered for his late, late winner against Man City £80m. And that's where things started to go wrong.

Few people would ever have predicted Liverpool great Michael Owen would don Cantona's old jersey. But he did after joining on a free from Newcastle as Ronaldo left.

It didn't go particularly well as he managed just five goals in 31 appearances for the other Reds.

But things were to get worse from there. Antonia Valencia has been an honest pro, but he's hardly a name that follows Cantona, Beckham and Ronaldo off the tongue.

It was a big step up for the Ecuador international coming from Wigan and he did OK.

But he found the pressure of seven too much and he ran to the safety of the No.25 shirt after just one season.

And Juan Mata also swerved it when he signed from Chelsea halfway through the campaign, going for the much safer eight instead.

Nightmare

So it fell to one of the biggest transfer flops in the club's history to be the next man to have a nightmare in seven.

Angel Di Maria has finally jumped ship for Paris St Germain after failing to remotely live up to his British record £59.7m fee.

His four goals in 32 games is hardly the stuff of legends and he leaves Manchester under one of the city's ever present black clouds.

So who's next? It looks like Pedro could be the man who tries to make the No.7 shirt great again.

He's on the verge of signing from Barcelona for his £22m release clause and boss Louis van Gaal thinks the winger could be the final piece in a title-winning jigsaw.

He said: "Barcelona have the speed of Neymar and Messi – and they have Pedro behind them."

"We have to compete with that. We can win the title if we can buy players with speed and creativity."

"We have to improve our selection in that way."

BARGAIN: Lineker

Gary backs City's spend on Sterling

GARY LINEKER thinks the £49million Man City have paid for Raheem Sterling could end up looking like a real bargain.

The Match Of The Day host is one of the few high-profile voices to back the massive fee paid for the former Liverpool forward.

Lineker said: "Sterling going to Manchester City is going to be really interesting to see."

"It is a lot of money but if he realises the potential he has, he might turn out to be a bargain."

Despite backing that particular move, Lineker still thinks it won't be enough to stop Chelsea from retaining their title.

He expects the league to be more competitive, but thinks the Blues still have enough in hand.

He added: "They were so dominant last season. It is hard to defend it though so it won't be easy."

LOANEE: Akpom

Chuba joins Tigers on Prem push

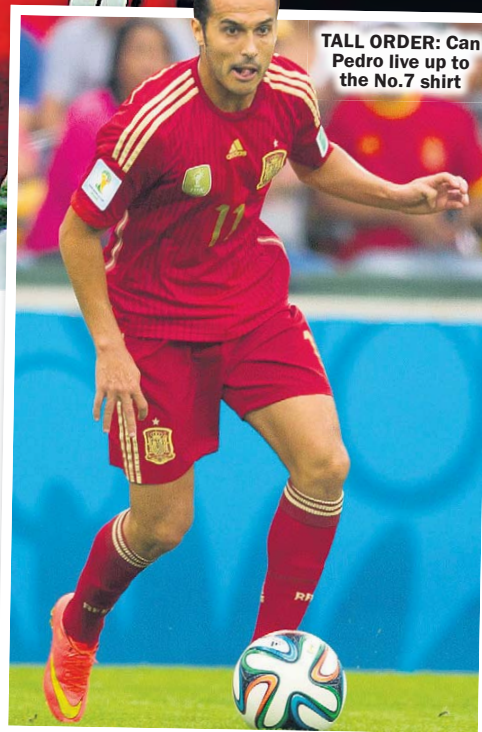

CHAMPIONSHIP new-boys Hull have signed Arsenal striker Chuba Akpom on a season-long loan.

The 19-year-old joins fellow Gunner Isaac Hayden at the KC Stadium as Tigers boss Steve Bruce tries to plot a course back to the Premier League.

Akpom was thought to want to stay and fight for his place and has already made nine appearances for the Arsenal first team.

He's been out on loan in the past couple of seasons and done well at Brentford, Coventry and Nottingham Forest, who he was a regular first-teamer with last season.

Bruce has added four new faces to his squad and is closing in on the permanent signings of Moses Odubajo and Andre Grey from Brentford in time for Saturday's big kick-off.

UNITED FRONT:
Pedro looks to be bound for Old Trafford

By MIKE MURRAY

MANCHESTER United have wasted little time in replacing Angel Di Maria and have sealed the deal for Pedro from Barcelona.

Old Trafford officials have opened talks in Spain to sign the Spanish international for an initial £19million, which could rise to £23m depending on how well Pedro does in England.

United boss Louis Van Gaal has been told negotiations might take some time and it's unlikely that Pedro would be available for the opening game of the season against Tottenham on Saturday.

The move comes as Angel Di Maria finally showed his face to seal his "dream" move to Paris St-Germain.

But the Argie showed his true colours by saying he was TOO TIRED to have his medical for the French giants.

To be fair, lying on a couch, sticking out your tongue and saying "aah" really takes it out of you.

It brings another spoilt brat player saga to an end with United around £15m worse off after breaking the British transfer record to bring Di Maria in from Real Madrid just 12 months ago.

And United legend Rio Ferdinand is one of many voices saying good riddance to an expensive mistake.

But the former Reds skipper thinks Di Maria will regret walking away from the challenge of winning over the United faithful.

He said: "He will now always have on his CV that he was a failure at Man United."

"I wouldn't want something like that on my record. "If I could rectify it by staying and trying to prove myself, I would have done that. I can understand why some fans are disappointed that he is leaving so soon, but this is a business.

"United have looked at it this summer and Van Gaal has probably come to the conclusion that he doesn't fit into his system. At that point, you have to cash in."
